Report 250 new truce violations

Procedural disputes delay cease-fire team

SAIGON (AP) — Procedural disputes today continued to delay the dispatch of ceease-fire observers into the South Vietnamese provinces, and the South Vietnamese command reported more than 250 new violations of the truce by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong between noon Monday and dawn Tuesday. But this was a drop of 30 per cent from the previous reporting period.

In Honolulu, the U.S. Pacific Command said U.S. B52 bombers and fighter-bombers continued operations against Communist forces in Laos and Cambodia Monday at the request of the Laotian and Cambodian governments. It gave no details.

Meanwhile, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived in Saigon for his first stop on a seven-nation tour of Southeast Asia and reaffirmed the Nixon administration's support for President Nguyen Van Thieu's regime as the only legitimate government of South Vietnam. He also said the U. S. government does not recognize the right of North Vietnamese troops to remain in South Vietnam.

Agnew said he would hold "important consultations" with Thieu on postwar relations.

The four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision failed to get its seven regional teams in place and operational this morning as called for in the cease-fire agreement because of procedural disputes within the four-party joint military commission made up of the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong. 7

A second planeload of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegates to the joint military commission sat overnight in the plane that brought them to Saigon, refusing to give tacit recognition to the Thieu government by filling out the customs and immigration forms required of all arrivals at Tan Son Nhut airport. U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker called on Thieu a few hours before Agnew arrived, and the government waived the requirement, as it had for another planeload of balky Communists on Monday.

The joint military commission held two meetings Monday, but both broke up in disputes over the failure or refusal of at least one of the two Communist delegations to present credentials. The commission met again for four hours Monday night and for nearly three hours this morning, but there was no word whether any issues had been resolved.

Peace, not war, wrecks village

THANH PHUOC, Vietnam (AP) — This little village of 2,500 survived the war just fine despite its precarious location on the Saigon-Phnom Penh highway. It was peace that brought devastation.

"My house, my clothes, our rice...," wailed 43-year-old Ho Thi Ket, squatting by the smouldering remains of her family's wood and tile home.

Neighbors were too griefstricken to listen. One sadly shook his head at the wreckage of his own brick and masonry home which collapsed to shoulder height when hit by a shell from a tank gun. About half of the village's homes were wrecked.

Villagers had celebrated the cease-fire early with a party Saturday night. The next morning many of them gathered around a radio for the official announcement of the start of the cease-fire at 8 a.m.

President Nguyen Van Thieu came on the air and they leaned forward to listen. "We were very happy, very happy," recalled one villager.

That lasted 15 minutes. At 8:15, the villagers said, a party of Viet Cong entered Thanh Phuoc from the forest in back. Soon after, some South Vietnamese soldiers arrived.

Whoever started it — the villagers say it was the Viet Cong — the battle lasted all day. The government forces used tanks and heavy weapons. The other side fired back with machine guns and bazooka-type rockets.

The houses of Thanh Phuoc lay right in the middle.

The village about 35 miles from Saigon had been lucky during the long war, escaping most of the damage along the highway to Cambodia.

This time it was shatterad. Even the coconuts were charred atop broken palm trees. Residents fled to safely during the fighting, but their cows and chickens didn't.

Rice stocks were also destroyed along with blankets, baby shoes and bottles of beer. Incense burned along with everything else, scenting the air.

A little girl sat atop a cart of rubble, looking calmly at television crews filming her. A black-uniformed militia officer wrote on a banner in red paint: "We accuse the Viet Cong of violating the agreement on January 28, 1973."

One old woman with teeth stained from betel nut cried to herself. Another muttered over and over: "My house is finished, everything is gone, what do I do?"

Other villagers sifted through the smoking ashes for unbroken roof tiles and sheets of tin so they could start all over again.

Watergate case to jury

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last two Watergate defendants are expected to present arguments today disclaiming the government contention that they turned a valid assignment into an illegal campaign of espionage against the Democratic party.

The poltical-espionage trial was expected to go to the jury after closing defense arguments and instructions by U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

G. Gordon Liddy, former legal counsel to President Nixon's campaign finance committee, and James W. McCord Jr., security chief of the Nixon campaign, are the two remaining defendants.

E. Howard Hunt, a White House consultant, pleaded guilty on the third day of trial. Four other men — Bernard L. Barker, Eugenio R. Martinez, Frank A. Sturgis and Virgilio R. Gonzalez, all from the Miami area — pleaded guilty a few days later.

McCord and the four Miamians were captured at gunpoint in the early morning hours of last June 17 inside Democratic National Committee headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex. Liddy and Hunt were charged later with leading a conspiracy that led to the Watergate break-in, the alleged bugging of telephones and attempted bugging of George McGovern's presidential campaign headquarters.

The government presented its 51 witnesses in three weeks, but the defense called its 11 witnesses in a span of one hour and 12 minutes Monday.

"The proof of guilt of the defendants in this case is so overwhelming from a mountain of evidence and testimony from the witness stand ... the only verdict is guilty ...," chief prosecutor Earl J. Uilbert said in closing arguments Monday.

The defense leaned chiefly on character witnesses. McCord's minister said he "has an exceedingly fine reputation." And a college classmate of Liddy said: "I don't think his reputation could be any higher among the people who know him."

Big boost in food prices goes mostly to farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)—New government figures today indicate it cost a family $64 more to eat at home last year, with higher farm prices accounting for $59 of the increase.

The Agriculture Department said the retail cost of a "market basket" list of food items, theoretically enough to feed a typical family of four for one year, was up 5.0 per cent in December from a year earlier.

At the annual rate, the entire market basket for one year would have cost a record $1,338 last month, compared with $1,274 in December 1971 Last month alone the basket cost $8 more or 0.6 per cent, than in November.

According to USDA statistics showing where consumer food dollars go, "the farm value" of the December market basket was $551, or $23 more than in November and $59 above a year earlier.

Meantime, the middleman's share of the basket was $787 in December, down $15 from November.

In December 1971, the middleman's share was $782, or $5 lass than last month. That, coupled with the $59 increase in farm value, accounted for the $64 increase in the one-year market basket.

The USDA formerly published dollar breakdowns for the market basket but recently discontinued the practice. The December rates and comparisons were computed at the request of newsmen.

Farm prices, although volatile, have trended up over the past year. Middleman's spreads tend to widen when farm prices decline and then narrow as prices go up.

Regardless, the USDA reported that the December farm value of what families pay for a market basket of food was up about 12 per cent from a year earlier. The middleman's share, which includes wholesale and retail spreads, was 0.7 per cent higher.

The report, prepared by USDA's Economic Research Service, showed supermarket prices rose for most items, including meat, milk, lettuce and eggs.

Beef, for example, cost more than $1.14 per pound, up 2.3 cents from November and the most since last August when it was nearly $1.16 per pound. That is an all-cut price, including hamburger as well as steak.

Pork prices also were up last month to a record retail average of 88.5 cents per pound, breaking the old mark of 87.5 set last October.

37 persons die in air crash; 7 are Americans

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Seven Americans and 30 others aboard an Egyptian jetliner from Cairo were killed Monday night when the plane struck a mountain ridge while approaching Nicosia airport.

Misrair, the Egyptian airline, said the Americans were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Burne Miller, Raymond Jeanne, Thomas Woods and Ann Valentine.

Their hometowns were not immediately available.

Engines hit caboose

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — Two engines that were hooked together crashed into the caboose of a stopped freight train Monday night in a mixup on the north-south Penn Central line between Ashtabula and Youngstown. There were no injuries.

Weather

Clear to partly cloudy tonight, with lows in the 20s. Partly cloudy Wednesday with highs mostly in the 40s.

Limousine used by Kennedy to become museum exhibit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The limousine in which President John F. Kennedy was assassinated will be retired from government service, probably to a museum, the Secret Service Says.

The 1961 black Lincoln Continental will be returned soon to the Ford Motor Co., which leases the armor-plated presidential "security limousines," according to Jack Warner of the Secret Service.

At least one firm has expressed an interest in selling the historic vehicle, but a Ford spokesman said the auto "would not be promoted by anybody."

The Edison Institute, which operates the Henry Ford Museum in Greenfield Village, Mich., has the first option on the auto, the Ford spokesman said.

If the museum turns down the vehicle, which is doubtful, the auto probably will be destroyed, he added.

Russell Kruse of Kruse Classic Auction Co. of Auburn, Ind., the firm that recently sold Adolph Hitler's staff car for $153,000, said the Kennedy auto could bring up to a quarter-million dollars on the auction block.

The Ford spokesman, however, emphasized that the car would be "retired gracefully" and would not be sold.

The limousine was 90 per cent rebuilt in 1964 following the assassination in Dallas in 1963, a Secret Service spokesman said.

Ford in 1968 signed an eight-year contract to keep two highpowered, specially equipped presidential limousines available at the White House and to build a new one every four years.

President Lyndon B. Johnson received a new car in 1968 and President Nixon received his new one last year.

Johnson knew peace coming

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson died knowing that a ceasefire agreement had been reached for South Vietnam, his widow says.

Johnson was told personally by President Nixon that a cease-fire accord had been agreed upon, Ladybird Johnson said Monday.

Furthermore, the former president was in the process of preparing a statement to be released when the cease-fire was formally announced, Mrs. Johnson said in a statement.

Johnson died of a heart attack on Monday afternoon, Jan. 22; the ceasefire was announced by Nixon on Tuesday night, Jan. 23.

"So many have expressed sorrow ... that my husband had no knowledge of the ceasefire agreement in Southeast Asia," Mrs. Johnson said. "I think his friends should be told that fate was kind. Lyndon did know that peace had come."

Mrs. Johnson said her husband was kept "continuously informed at every stage of the long negotiations" by the President, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and others.

"He followed those proceedings very closely and said he was so pleased when President Nixon himself called to the final breakthrough," Mrs. Johnson said.

"I give thanks that the great heart which sustained him through his many ordeals sustained Lyndon until he knew the ordeal of war was over," Mrs. Johnson said.

"I shall always be grateful to President Nixon for his consideration on this and in so many other ways."

Israelis driven off?

BEIRUT (AP) — Israeli warplanes attempted to penetrate Syrian air space today but Syrian jets drove them off, an army spokesman reported in Damascus.

Civilian POWs face ouster if they talk to reporters

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — Civilian prisoners of war returning from North Vietnam will be cared for by the "Operation Homecoming" medical and psychological treatment program, but not if they decide to talk to over 100 reporters waiting them here, a State Department spokesman said today.

"If one of the returning civilians wants to hold a press conference he may do so, but only by opting out of the Homecoming program," spokesman Irwin Teven said. "But once he opts out, he may not come back."

Teven's comment was the first word from the State Department on contact between the press and returning civilians. The department is charged with looking after the civilians while they are in "Operation Homecoming."

Military officials at Clark said earlier that the press would not be allowed contact with returning military POWs anywhere in the Pacific area.

Of the 32 civilians the North Vietnamese have admitted holding, 27 are Americans. Teven said at least nine of them were U.S. government employes at the time of their capture, but information was incomplete on the other 18 Americans.

The five foreigners — two Filipinos, two West Germans and a Canadian — also are expected to be returned to Clark Air Base by American planes.

Many of the civilians were captured in South Vietnam and will be turned over to U.S. officials there. Then they will be flown to Clark for processing.

Official civilians — U.S. government employes — will be treated the same as the military. They are a part of the Homecoming Program," Teven said.

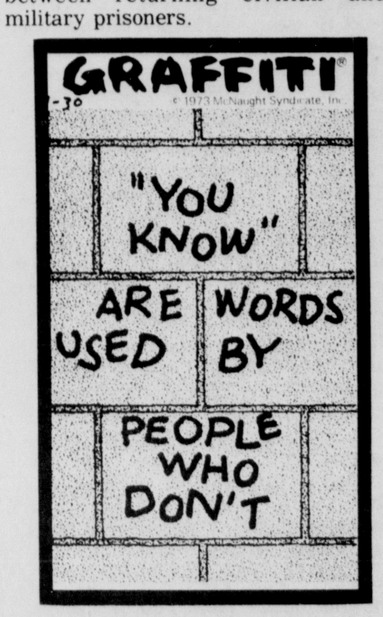

He said the policy on press contact with nonofficial civilian POWs was based on the need for "full parity" between returning civilian and military prisoners.

Richardson wins Senate approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has confirmed the nomination of Elliot L. Richardson as secretary of defense, reducing to three the number of President Nixon's new Cabinet appointees still to be confirmed.

Two nominees are to be taken up Wednesday, with a midafternoon vote scheduled on the nomination of Peter J. Brennan, New York labor leader, as secretary of labor.

A vote is expected Wednesday or Thursday on the nomination of James T. Lynn to be secretary of housing and urban development.

Army hospital to meet all POW requests

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—If a prisoner-of-war has a request that can't be filled, the Army will be surprised.

"We've been preparing for these men for more than a year," said Maj. Louis Oliverio, chief of operations at Ireland Army Hospital. "We think we've thought of everything."

The hospital will become a temporary home for the prisoners after they are flown from Vietnam. They will be housed on the seventh floor but will have access to all sections of the building.

No one knows, or will say, how many prisoners are coming. They will, however, be soldiers whose homes are in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and possibly Illinois, West Virginia and Tennessee.

"We've got 50 beds on the seventh floor," said Oliverio, "and we can handle more patients, if the number goes higher. I don't think it will."

One room has been set aside for briefings, where the men can catch up on the events of past years. It contains films, books and pamphlets which, said Oliverio, "can bring a man up to date on what he's missed."

There's also a library, dining facilities and a shoe repair shop. "All a man has to do is ask, and we'll see what can be done about filling his request," said Oliverio.

Families of the prisoners will be staying at a nearby guest house on the post. It is only a short distance from the hospital, where the Army wants the reunions to take place.

The POWs will make one stop at Louisville's Standiford Field so they can be transferred to medical helicopters for the trip to Knox.

"We have been trying to discourage relatives from meeting the men at Standiford," said Lt. Col. Bud Reid, a Public Information spokesman.

"I know it will be difficult but if a large group shows up in Louisville, it's just going to delay those families waiting at Knox," he explained.

Reid said the men will be examined and debriefed "in the hopes that we may learn something about Army personnel still missing in Vietnam."

After the prisoners reach Knox, they will be isolated for 24 hours from everyone but medical personnel and their families.

"Newmen will not be allowed to interview a prisoner until he feels he is ready," said Reij. There will, however, be daily press briefings.

"Some of these men will be coming home to problems they don't know about yet," Reid continued, "and we want to make the transition as smooth as possible."

"Once a man feels well enogh to travel," he said, "we'll give him a 90-day furlough and make the necessary arrangements."

Leaving Vietnam, the prisoners will make a stop at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines. "When they reach Clark, said Reid, "we'll know how many are heading for Knox."

This post, with its 50,000 population, military and civilian, is often called Kentucky's third largest city. It is planning a warm welcome for the POWs.

"The Army," said one GI, "knows how to take care of its own."

Crissingers taking over Jeff eatery

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Crissinger, Holly Dr., who opened Crissinger's Tasty Shop, 201 S. Main St., in the former Pennsylvania Railroad depot in 1963 are in the process of branching out in their business.

Crissinger said he and Mrs. Crissinger will take over DeWine's Steak House in Jeffersonville as soon as the D-1 permit, held by J.R. DeWine, is transferred by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control. The D-1 permit is for 3.2 beer consumption on the premises and carry-out.

The Crissingers came to Washington C.H. from Columbus in 1941. He was employed for a time in the Aeronautical Products, Inc., (API) plant during World War II and in 1951 went into business with the Sunshine Laundry.

DeWine's Steak House was opened in Jeffersonville about 20 years ago and has been operated as a "full service restaurant." The Crissingers plan extensive remodeling and changing the name from Steak House to Jeffersonville Inn, but will continue the "full restaurant" service. The Crissinger Tasty Shop features pizza and Italian food.

DeWine could not be reached for comment on his plans for the future.

Good Shepherd adopts budget

A 1973 budget for Good Shepherd Lutheran Church was adopted, and four new councilmen were named at the annual congregational meeting Sunday following potluck supper.

The budget includes $18,595 for current expenses, $5,585 for debt reduction (church construction) and $4,470 for benevolences.

Glen Steinke was elected to fill out the unexpired term of Wilmer Bergdolt on the Church Council; Bergdolt resigned when he and his family moved to Goshen, Ind. Three new councilmen, Mrs. Stanley Graumlich, Hargis Ramey and Robert Lee were elected for three-year terms.

South Solon pushes crossing protection

SOUTH SOLON — This village hopes to know within the next two weeks whether it will get flasher lights at the DT&I Railroad crossing of Ohio 323 at the eastern edge of town.

More than 200 residents of the village met with representatives of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission and Madison County officials Monday night in the community building. The meeting was conducted by Mayor Stanley Marsh.

After the appeal for flasher lights at the crossing had been discussed and facts and figures given to the PUCO representatives, there was a long question and answer period.

The meeting itself came to no conclusions, but Mayor Marsh said a formal application will be made to the PUCO within a couple of weeks.

It was brought out that 12 trains pass the intersection daily and school buses cross the tracks 22 times a day. School Principal Carl E. Carothers was killed Dec. 12 when his car was hit by a DT&I train there.

The cost of the flashers is estimated at $40,000. Mayor March said he understands federal funds are available to meet the cost without sharing it with the village.

Senate studies bill to free frozen funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid a deepening White House-congressional rift over spending, a Senate subcommittee begins hearings today on a bill that would give Congress the power to override presidential impoundment of appropriated funds.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr.,D-N.C., is chief sponsor of the bill and it is his Judiciary subcommittee that is conducting the hearings.

Ervin said Monday that, however worthy President Nixon's motives in withholding appropriations, Congress cannot "legalize an inherently unconstitutional act."

"The Congress," Ervin said, "must not become a stepchild of the executive, and the presidency must not be allowed to assume the powers of a divine monarchy."

Fifty senators have cosponosored the bill, but sharp differences between Democrats and Republicans were evident in statements by opposing leaders.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott said President Nixon's impoundment of about $10 billion in appropriated funds was necessary because "if the Congress can't add, the President must subtract so taxes won't multiply."

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, however, said all senators should "stand up for the constitutional rights" of Congress to legislate spending limits.

Ervin's bill says Congress must approve any impoundment ordered by the President within a period of 60 days or such impounding must cease.

Nixon, in an effort to control inflation, is refusing to spend money Congress appropriated for a variety of programs.

4-H Tractor Club to meet Thursday

Young people 12 years old and over with an interest in farm tractor maintenance and safety may join the 4-H Tractor Club. The club will hold its organization meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Greenline Equipment, U. S. 22.

Meetings will be held at various tractor and equipment dealers, places of business throughout the county. The project will be completed in mid-April and climaxed June 3 with the annual tractor rodeo.

The project is designed to teach how better tractor care and safety results in longer life, more power and lower operating costs. Members will learn safe tractor operation and basic mechanics as well as daily maintenance requirements.

Members are expected to have a tractor available to use and study in the project. Advisors for 1973 are Joe Geesling, Frank Dill, Lowell Woods, Jim Garland and John Hiser.

Anyone interested may join by attending the organizational meeting or by calling the Fayette County Extension Service office, 335-1150.

Prayer breakfast topic is 'Peace'

Thoughts of peace overshadowed all else at the weekly prayer breakfast for teenagers in the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday. Prayers of thanks were offered for the cease-fire in Indochina and for the safe return of the prisoners of war and the missing in action who may still be alive.

Jane Bolender, a WJHS freshman, led the singing, and Kevin Blair, a WJHS freshman gave the student devotional. Kevin Pfeifer dismissed the group of 56 students and teachers with a prayer. Included in the group were 14 freshmen, 18 sophomores, 9 juniors, 9 seniors and 6 teachers. The Rev. Charles J. Richmond is the pastor.

Man sentenced on rioting charge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gerald K. Seevers, 21, of Columbus has been sentanced to seven months in county jail and fined $500 and costs after being found guilty of rioting.

Seevers, a truck driver, was accused of rioting during anti-ROTC demonstrations at Ohio State University last May. A jury found him guilty Saturday and he was sentenced Monday.

Ohio's unemployment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The pre-Christmas economic boom helped lower Ohio's December unemployment rate three-tenths of one per cent, according to state Bureau of Employment Services' figures released Monday.

The December rate of 3.7 per cent placed 170,000 Ohioans on the unemployment list, compared with November's 4 per cent or 181,000.

Carroll site radioactive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission laboratory in Chicago is testing radioactive material found last week scattered around a Fair field County residence, a spokesman for the Ohio Civil Defense agency said today.

James R. Williams, radiological maintenance officer for the agency, said the lavel of radioactivity on the property near Carroll varied and his office had not determined the extent of danger, if any.

Sealed containers bearing a radiation warning were discovered, some of them open.

Williams identified the radioactive material as isotopes, used by doctors in diagonostic procedures. The material would have to be ingested into the body to be harmful and the chances of that are remote, he said.

The AEC laboratory was to determine the origin of the containers, as well as the contamination, Williams said. The AEC has a prescribed method of disposing of such radioactive material, he said.

Wilson role in Viet War disclosed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A newly released section of the Pentagon papers describes Britain's attempts to mediate a Vietnam war settlement as "sometimes embarrassing" to the United States by spotlighting apparent contradictions in President Lyndon B. Johnson's peace-seeking efforts.

The study says the United States brought Britain into the negotiating process in 1966-1967 only to help British Prime Minister Harold Wilson politically and because of the importance of British support for U.S. Vietnam policias.

Johnson's secret diplomatic efforts from 1965 to 1968 are described in four previously unreleased volumes of the Pentagon war study introduced as evidence in the trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo, charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft in connection with the leak of the study to news media.

The Pentagon documents were released to the press Monday.

"The eagerness of British leaders to participate with maxiumum visibility in bringing peace to Vietnam ... was sometimes embarrassing to the United States, which greatly preferred confidential dealings with a minimum of participants," the study said.

Britain was a go-between for peace feelers which were known by the code name "Sun flower." That diplomatic effort ended in early 1967 when Johnson resumed bombing of North Vietnam following a suspension during the Tet lunar new year.

Long-time Defiance County auditor dies

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Allen Elliot, long-time Defiance County official, died at a Hicksville hospital late Monday at the age of 76. He had been ill for a short time.

Elliot had served in the county auditor's office for the past 20 years, the last eight years as county auditor.

Sheriff seeks funds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The Hamilton County budget commission has been asked for a $1.4 million increase by new Sheriff Paul Fricker to hire 75 additional police and make improvements in the department.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Warm air began flowing into Ohio early today, nudging temperatures higher after overnight lows in single figures across parts of the state.

A massive high pressure area centered over the Gulf of Mexico, with its influence extending north into Canada, was responsible for the flow of warm, Gulf air into Ohio. The warming trend should increase as the high moves eastward.

Highs today were expected to reach from the upper 20s north to the mid 30s in the south. Wednesday's highs will range from the mid 30s into the 40s.

High cloudiness will begin to spread into western part of Ohio Wednesday ahead of a front spread across the Plains States today.

Fayette Countian held for burglary

Fayette County sheriff's deputies arrested a 28-year-old Fayette County man Monday afternoon on burglary charges stemming from the entry into two Circleville homes in December.

Larry Stanley, 28, Rt. 6, was arrested at his Flakes Ford Road home by Sgt. William Crooks and John Emrick. He was later released to the Circleville Police Department and is currently lodged in the Pickaway County jail under $100,000 bond.

Circleville police said Stanley and another man had entered two homes there a few days before Christmas and removed television sets, jewelery, clothing and other items of value. At least $700 in goods was removed from one of the homes, officers reported.

Stanley is on parole after serving time in prison for assault with intent to rob. Sheriff's deputies said he offered no resistance when arrested.

Ashville boy dies

ASHVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Thomas M. Hedges, 9, of Ashville, was killed late Monday when struck by a car after jumping from a feed grinder being pulled by a tractor operated by his father, Pickaway County Sheriff's deputies said.

Controlling board finally OKs libraries for prisons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It took three times, but the State Controlling Board finally approved an $86,739 expenditure for libraries at Ohio's penal institutions by a vote of 5-2.

Sen. Howard Cook, R-1 Toledo, and Rep. Fred Hadley, R-79, were the only desenting votes. The last time the board voted—late last year—it turned down the request 3-3.

The officials objecting said the money could be used in a more constructive fashion. However, correctional officials said the U.S. Law Enforcement Administration Agency had ordered the money spent on a library.

The board rejected payment of a $7,900 in attorney fees, despite a letter from the state attorney general's office that members of the board could be subject to contempt of court proceedings.

The fee was ordered paid by Judge Carl Rubin of the U.S. District Court in connection with a civil rights suit filed against the state during the Gov. James Rhodes administration.

Former Governor Rhodes and Alfred Gienow, former director of public works, were charged with failure to provide equal employment opportunities on public building and construction projects.

When Gov. John Gilligan took office he was forced to issue an executive order to halt discrimination in 1972.

When Rubin gave the ruling against the state, he ordered payment of the plaintiffs' counsel fees.

The board also:

—Approved spending $377,954 for educational television transmitters at Alliance-Salem, Lima-Bowling Green, Portsmouth and Cambridge.

—Authorized release of $66,430 to boost the staff of the consumer frauds section of the attorney general's office.

—Released $156,505 in operating funds for the Consumer Protection Division in the Department of Commerce.

—Released school foundation payments for January of $65.8 million and $368,525 as the state's share for the purchase of 90 new school buses.

—Approved spending $665,500 for relocating the state's downtown steam generating plant from the Ohio penitentiary building to atop the transportation building to service fice state buildings in downtown Columbus.

Stock list halts slide

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market scored an advance today after six straight sessions of declines, with trading moderately active. Many of the price changes were fractional.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.06 to 997.52 and on the New York Stock Exchange advancing issues had an advantage of about 7 to 5 over decliners.

"There has been a little too much bearishness around," commented Ronald Cooper of W. E. Hutton & Co., "with some people thinking the market's long decline would feed on itself. But all of the economic news is basically good—steel production up, auto sales up. The only questions now are whether the administration can contain inflation and keep a rein on interest rates."

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .01 to 25.87.

At noon the New York Stock Exchange index was .15 higher at 62.92.

Fatal blaze brings arrest

PLEASANTVILLE, N.J. (AP) — State Police have charged a young Baltimore man with arson in connection with a fire at a rest home that took the lives of 10 elderly residents.

Harry Kemp, 22, was arrested late Monday and is under guard at Somars Point Hospital for treatment of burns he suffered in the fire.

Kemp was one of six residents of Street's Rest Home who escaped the fire in the two-story, wood-frame building, along with two employes.

Four of the victims of the fire on Monday were women, one 106 years old. The other victims were in their 70s and 80s.

Deputy Fire Chief Walt S. Schlundt said an alarm system connected to the fire department failed to go off, but occupants of the home who fled safely said an internal alarm did sound.

Set hearing on Corona trial appeal

FAIRFIELD, Calik. (AP) — A juror who says she regrets voting for conviction of Juan Corona on mass murder charges and a matron accused of influencing the verdict have been ordered to testify on a defense motion for a new trial.

Juror Naomi Underwood and matron Georgia Wallis were directed Monday to appear before Judge Richard Patton on Feb. 5, the day Patton has set for sentencing the 38-year-old farm labor contractor on 25 counts of first-degree murder.

An estimated 500 Mexican-American picketed outside the courthouse during the brief hearing with signs saying, "Juan is innocent," "Free political prisoners," "Jury tampering is illegal" and "Hang on, Mrs. Underwood."

Corona, a Mexican citizen who worked in California as a farm labor contractor, was found guilty on Jan. 18 of slaying 25 itinerant farm workers whose bodies were found near Yuba City in 1971.

In statements both in and out of court on Monday, defense attorney Richard Hawk accused Mrs. Wallis of "jury tampering."

He cited a conversation Mrs. Underwood reported having with the matron while the jury was still considering its verdict after a trial of four months.

Drug king sentenced

NEW YORK (AP) — An Argentine national described by the federal government as "the biggest narcotics trafficker ever brought to justice in the United States" has been sentenced to 20 years in prison and fined $20,000.

Auguste Joseph Ricord was the kingpin of an international ring responsible for routing a ton of heroin into the United States annually, the government charged.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Walter Phillips placed a $600 million yearly price tag on the heroin sent from France through South America.

Ricord, 63, had been convicted of conspiracy to smuggle hundreds of pounds of narcotics. U.S. Dist. Court Judge John Cannella, who gave him the maximum sentence Monday, declared:

"This is not an addict who is being sentence or a pusher who made a few sales. This is a very large quantity of narcotics. The end product from the mortality and suffering probably would equal the recent figures for the Vietnam war casualties."

Columbus resident charged in murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Stanley Cline Humphrey, 27, of Columbus, charged with first degree murder in the shooting death of Sylvester Norris, 26, on Dec. 5. 7

Norriu was killed in the bathroom of his home.

Humphrey was arrested Monday afternoon while sitting in municipal court as a spectator. He was to be arraigned in the same courtroom today.

Riffe Ohio House mover, shaker

Ohio Perspective

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A. G. Lancione of Bellaire is speaker of the Democratic-dominated Ohio House this session, but a 47-year-old insurance man from another southern Ohio town makes it move.

He is Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr. of New Boston, the speaker pro-tem, Lancione's top assistant. The title is new, but the job isn't.

When Democrats were in the minority last year, Riffe sat in Lancione's office directing operations. The titles went to others, but Riffe was the man to see to get things done.

Riffe became a natural when Democrats took over the House. He agreed to take the trusted lieutenant's title as well as the job.

It's different, he admits.

"When we were in the minority we had a good excuse for not getting things done," he said. "We didn't have the votes.

"But we're in the majority now and there's a bit of difference. It's our job to see that things operate properly in the House. Being in the majority brings more responsibility.

"We can't sit down now and say, 'It's up to the majority to move this bill or that.' It's our responsibility now."

Responsibility is something that comes easy for Riffe, whose 72-year-old father served as mayor of New Boston, near Portsmouth, for 27 years. He was safety director for eight.

"I've got two roles in this job," said Riffe, "working with legislative personnel and carrying out the policies set by the administration and the speaker. Still most important, I must represent my constitutients. I can't forget them."

Riffe is beginning his seventh term in the House. When Democrats were in the minority, Riffe could still get things done.

"See Vern," was almost a password when a legislator's favorite bill would hit a partisan snage in committee. Riffe is considered a master at the political art of bringing about a compromise.

Riffe is a close friend as well as the top lieutenant to Lancione. They share a suit in a downtown hotel when the General Assembly is in session.

Riffe once nursed hopes of being Democratic house leader but discarded his plans two years ago when Lancione, a veteran of 26 years in the House, indicated he wanted the post. Riffe managed Lancione's campaign for what was then minority leader.

"He is one of the greatest men in the legislature," Riffe said of the speaker. "He is sincere and cooperative. I hope he is around for many, many years."

Man attempts to steal bank

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Banks have been run on, bombed and robbed.

Now, police say, someone has tried to steal one.

Police reported Sunday that Richard John Lee, 26, broke into a motor home used as a portable Bank of America branch, ransacked it and then tried to drive off with it.

Officers said Lee was unable to get the vehicle into gear and asked two men at a nearby service station for aid.

But the sight of the ransacked interior and the "Bank of America" painted on the vehicle "aroused their suspicion."

The men called police, who took Lee into custody.

Hates war; Ohio farmer to emigrate

TERESA C. PITTS
Associated Press Writer

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — At age 66, Robert Schroer is emigrating to Argentina because he hates the war in Vietnam.

Not even the prospect of an early cease-fire deters him.

"I decided last spring I couldn't take it any more," said the Licking County turkey farmer.

"I'm a farmer and I produce food. I felt as long as I stayed in this country I was part of what it was doing. I just didn't want the blood-guilt any more."

So, Schroer said he was selling his 180-acre farm and leaving the United States for good, "as soon as the sorghum harvest is in." That's about a month away.

Schroer, a fruit and turkey farmer in Licking County since 1937, picked Argentina as his haven because it was "the farthest place from war I could think of." Buenois Aires, the Argentine capital, is about 6,000 miles south of Ohio.

When the Vietnam war started, "we didn't talk about it much," he recalled, "but I knew what we were doing over there was murder. Just like Hitler murdering the Jews."

He hesitated. "But I guess we'll never really know how many we've killed over there."

For the past three years Schroer said he's been joining in protest demonstrations at nearby Denison University and taking out anti-war ads in the local newspaper.

"Some people didn't like me for it, but I'd been against the war so long by then, it didn't matter much."

One who opposed Schroer's views was one of his own sons, an navigator for Air Force B-52's making bombing raids over North Vietnam.

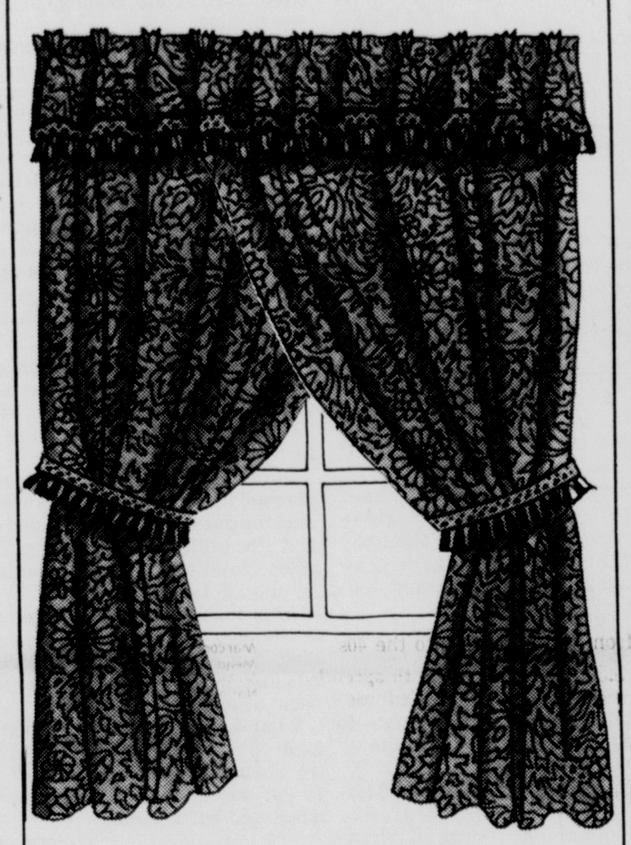

"We don't see eye to eye at all," admitted Schroer.

As for his other five children and his wife, "I expect they're in favor of what I'm doing and why I'm doing it," he said.

He said he expected his wife to join him in South America after disposing of the family business.

If Earth's total age, now estimated by geophysicists at about 4.5 billion years, is taken as a single 24-hour day, today's ocean basins are scarcely an hour old.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 31

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Some recently puzzling situations and trends begin to clarify. However, there may be new situations you do not anticipate, but you must accept them.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

With your keenness for detecting flaws and your good humor, you can solve practically all of the "little" quandaries waiting to trip the unthinking.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Some information you have needed in a financial matter can now be obtained — possibly through the aid of a business associate. Evening hours promise to be stimulating, socially.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Steering your own course will be quite enough without becoming involved in another person's. But don't fear problems; just face situations intelligently.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Use the techniques which have proved potent in the past, but also be ready to consider new angles, methods, etc. Couple resoluteness with a certain amount of flexibility.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Enthuse! This may be THE factor needed to keep day out of a rut, free from aggravations. Day also requires understanding of others' needs.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Important now: Common sense, logical analysis, calm interrogation. Regular business and work matters highly favored. Don't waste time worrying over the past.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Planetary influences encourage both long-pending projects and new ventures. Your intuition and foresight should be keen now.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Tangible gains indicated if your pursue work and handle obligations without unnecessary interruptions. Stress consistency.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

If you get a late start, pitch in sturdily and, with the right momentum, you will soon catch up. With painstaking effort and vigor, you can have a rewarding day.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Uranus' auspicious aspect favors partnerships, promises cooperation in putting over new projects or advanced methods. Don't procrastinate.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A splendid configuration of your planets encourages your fine talents and know-how. This is a day in which to give your finest performance, to stress good management.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely outgoing individual, progressive in your ideas and methods and truly brilliant in your ingenuity. Your enthusiasm for life is boundless and in your swing along to high goals, you often carry many others along with you. Your methods may seem erratic to others at times, but you always know what you are doing and where you are going — and you get there. In business you can be extremely aggressive, but you are usually artistic (and quieter) in your outside interests. Best outlets for your talents: Music, journalism, short-story writing, the stage, politics.

Cuyahoga trash problem grows

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The waste disposal problem in Cuyahoga County is no longer one of just finding landfill sites, according to a city-county task force study on waste.

The problem has also become one of too much trash, the study noted.

The area generates nearly, 3,200 tons of trash each day, and although the study's immediate solution was to call for a $22 million system of landfills to handle the problem, the study also urged increased interest in reducing the amount of trash.

Marriage vows exchanged in Derby Methodist Church

Miss Geraldine Rader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Rader, of Derby, became the bride of Pfc. George W. Hatfield Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hatfield, 421 S. Fayette St., in the Derby United Methodist Church. The Rev. Kenneth Chapin performed the double ring candlelight ceremony Dec. 23, before two seven - branched candelabra and baskets of pink and yellow carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Rader wore a formal length satin gown of white with long full bishop sleeves. Her shoulder length veil was caught to pink petals and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations with matching streamers.

The groom wore his Marine dress uniform.

Mrs. Lester Howard was matron of honor for her sister and Mrs. Barbara Chamberlain was bridesmatron. They wore floor length gowns of yellow and pink with long full sleeves and gathered skirts. They carried arrangements of pink and yellow carnations.

Nicholas O'Dearno served as best man and Lester Howard seated the guests. Junior attendants were the groom's brother, Gary Hatfield, and the bride's sister, Joan Rader.

Mrs. Rader chose for her daughter's wedding a pink double knit dress with black accessories. The groom's mother wore a formal length ensemble of blue skirt with ruffled blouse and black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink carnations.

Hostesses for the reception which followed in the church social room were Mrs. Norma J. Chamberlain, Mrs. Phyllis Weaver and Mrs. Diana Riley, the groom's sister.

The bride's table, covered with a pink cloth with white lace overcover, held a two-tiered wedding cake topped with a bridal couple. Punch was served with the cake and mints and nuts.

The new Mrs. Hatfield attended Westfall High School and the groom Washington Senior High School. He has returned to Okinawa where he is stationed with the U. S. Marines until July.

Out-of-town wedding guests came from Columbus, Jeffersonville and Washington C. H.

The Sunday afternoon musicale group met at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Robert E. Willis, for an hour of good listening.

Janice Ragland and Susan Wilson conducted a question and answer period on composers, pictures and important musicians.

Piano numbers were by Pamela and Jennifer Cox, Kathy Ginn, Nancy Marchant, Debbie Coulter and John Huffman.

A group of songs was sung by Janice Ragland with Diane Sagar at the piano.

Susan Willis received the guests.

AFS student is scheduled

Bundit Kanyavongha, of Thailand, will be guest speaker Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in First Baptist Church.

This meeting is planned by Women's Missionary Society with Ann Judson Circle in charge of devotions and Jenny Adams Circle serving as hostess. This is an open meeting to which all are invited.

Bundit's home is with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nestor and family while he attends Washington Senior High School this year. He is a Buddhist. His mother is a school teacher, a brother is a teacher; he has an older sister in nurses' training and three younger ones at home. His father is deceased.

He is 19 years old, and he is the 14th AFS exchange student in Washington C. H., the second Thai student. Textbooks in Thailand are in English, and he has a better command of the language than some foreign students. He is good at drawing and water color painting.

Bundit is sponsored by American Field Service which was started by volunteer ambulance drivers in the first World War because they believed that, with better understanding between people, there would be less war. They helped start bringing students here and to other countries. People are so reluctant in other countries to keep American students because Americans have so much more than they can give them.

Tie-ups

ADD A DASH of razzle dazzle to a low-cut blouse and tie one on. The style to tie is Echo's new two-tone pussycat bow, a nifty neckline accessory.

YOU CAN do countless things with a scarf. One of the easiest is to make a man's tie. Use a giant 31-inch square. Fold on the bias, then tie, man style, as pictured at right.

THE ARTIST'S BOW, made with a bias oblong is one of the snappiest and newest looks in neckwear this year.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

IT'S JUST around now that the winter doldrums strike. Everything, including milady's wardrobe, seems drab and dreary. What to do about it? Spark winter's wardrobe with nifty accessories. They can make presto changes in the way your dark woolens and polyesters look, giving them a needed lift.

You can work magic changes with jewelry. The new ivory pendants on gold chains are eye-catchers, so are the many jade pieces that have come along on the heels of America's political interest in China. The nice thing about both ivory and jade: They look as well with spring and summer clothes as they do with winter wardrobes. They are true season spanners.

Another quick way to add color to dresses and especially to shirts, pullons and turtlenecks is to tie on a scarf. Echo has a whole collection of them — long rectangles, zippy squares plus some special scarfs that are just the ticket for those of you who aren't handy when it comes to scarfery.

There's an artist's bow, for example, made with a bias oblong that's one of the snappiest and newest looks in neckwear, a great finishing touch with the layered look. A two-tone pussycat bow is another cutey, one that's easily tied in place.

For those who have a 31-inch square. Echo suggests this trick: Fold it on the bias, and tie it just like a man's tie. Worn this way, a scarf looks exactly right as a fill-in with a man-tailored shirt and vest combination.

Pope sees need for war repairs

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI says that "As world citizens, we cannot be indifferent to Vietnam after the war."

The pontiff, in his Sunday noon blessing to about 4,000 persons in St. Peter's Square, said the necessity now is to "repair the ruins and overcome the needs" of the people. He called for "spontaneous initiatives to aid Vietnam.

Pope Paul made no direct reference to the signing of the cease-fire agreement in Paris Saturday.

He added that only the facts would show if "this is a true peace."

"Dig out some of those old timers . . . It's time they got some air!"

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Next April, an independent television news agency hopes to begin servicing stations in the U.S. with a daily hour of news — without an anchorman and without commercials.

Heresy? Not really. The service is being offered as a supplement to local TV news operations, providing filmed news and sports reports the stations can include in their own newscasts.

The agency is TVN, Inc., temporarily based here and so new — it was incorporated Jan. 11 — that its executives haven't yet decided where to set up their permanent corporate headquarters. They say it will probably be located in New York.

They plan to set up fully staffed news bureaus here and in Washington, D.C., Chicago and Los Angeles to start with, and may establish other domestic bureaus if things go well.

The company will collect and send out their reports by leased lines for taping by client stations. The major networks feed their regular evening news broadcasts to stations the same way.

TVN officials say the company will offer international as well as national news, getting its overseas film stories from Visnews, Inc., a London-based TV news cooperative.

Visnews, which owns a small percentage of TVN, is a nonprofit trust owned jointly by the British Broadcasting Corp., Reuters, the Australian Broadcasting Corp. and the New Zealand Broadcasting Corp.

Starting a full-scale news operation from scratch won't come cheaply. It'll cost about $4 million, according to TVN's president, John O. Gilbert, a veteran broadcasting industry executive.

He says TVN's news crews in the U.S. initially will number about 60, including cameramen and technicians.

He declined for competitive reasons to say how many stations — independent and network-affiliated — have shown an interest in TVN's proposed operation.

He emphasizes that the operation isn't competing with the news programs offered by the ABC, NBC and CBS television networks, which now have a total of 584 affiliated stations.

"However, we do feel that we can be a great supplemental service for the stations," said Gilbert, a former ABC vice president for affiliate relations. "That's our basic thrust — as a supplemental service for local newscasts."

What do government deficits mean . . . Are they a real threat?

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "The greatest threat to our new prosperity is excessive government spending," said President Nixon in a brief radio address before presenting Congress a $268.7 billion budget, the biggest ever.

The President spoke those words against a backdrop of steadily rising federal expenditures, budget deficits in every year but one in the past 14, and a rising national debt now approximating $440 billion.

The projected $12 billion deficit for fiscal 1974, to begin at mid-year, follows these other deficits since 1965 (in billions):

1966 $3.80
1967 8.70
1968 25.16
1969 surplus
1970 2.85
1971 23.03
1972 23.02
1973(est) 20.00-25.00

What is the meaning of these deficits? And how long can they continue?

Economists quickly dismiss as meaningless the fears that many people have over the size of budgets. The country is bigger each year, they say, so why shouldn't the budget also be larger?

Relative to the economy, federal spending hasn't been growing sharply, despite many opinions to the contrary. For more than 20 years it has remained close to 20 per cent of the gross national product.

The excessive spending referred to by the President relates to deficits. And while most economists show concern about them, there is surprisingly little fear.

"Economists of both liberal and conservative sides are not nearly as alarmed as the layman," said Walter Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

"We must avoid the assumption that red ink is akin to fiscal sin," said Paul McCracken, who held the same title under Nixon.

However, he added: "We must avoid the opposite mistake, of trying to dismiss it as if only the hair shirts, those who haven't cottoned to modern wisdom, should worry about it."

In interviews with many economists, the most feared consequence of deficits appears to be inflation, even though some cautioned that the relationship is probably not as direct as might appear.

These are the inflation rates for recent years, as measured by the Consumer Price Index:

1965 1.7
1966 2.9
1967 2.9
1968 4.2
1969 5.4
1970 5.9
1971 4.3
1972 3.4

The consequences of an unacceptable level of inflation — acceptable is somewhere around 2 per cent — were demonstrated in almost clinical fashion in recent years as the nation sought to finance a war abroad and social programs at home.

— Viewing the big government deficits, and noting that inflation was rising, many foreign money men lost their long held faith in the dollar. They sold out for other currencies and for gold when they could get it.

There was some justification for their fears. U.S. goods were losing their competitive edge; overpriced because of inflation, they lost some of their share in markets abroad.

— As a result, the balance of trade, which with government spending abroad makes up the payments balance, went into the red for the first time this century. The United States was importing more than it exported.

— This set the stage for the nation's first devaluation. — And, in an effort to cut inflation and restore stability, governmental restraints led to a recession, accompanied by rising unemployment.

But inflation is not an inevitable consequence of budget deficits. If an economy is operating at less than its capacity, it can tolerate — even benefit from the stimulus of — deficit spending.

The most popular way of expressing the concept is through an explanation of the full employment budget concept, to wit:

A budget deficit isn't inflationary if it is less than or equal to receipts that would have been produced if the economy were operating at its full potential, this is, with optimum employment (4 to 4.5 per cent unemployment).

Nixon supporters thus defend the projected $12 billion deficit as non-inflationary.

The 1968 deficit of $25.16 billion, however, came at a time when the nation was operating at its maximum capacity. Plants and equipment were fully utilized. And unemployment was around 3.5 per cent.

These are the jobless figures since 1965:

1965 4.5
1966 3.8
1967 3.8
1968 3.6
1969 3.5
1970 4.9
1971 5.9
1972 5.6

And what about the big federal debt? Is is harmful?

"It's a problem," said Heller. "You've got to service the debt and obtain the taxes to pay for it. But it's not a problem we should be losing any sleep over."

It gives many people nightmares, however. "How are we ever going to pay for it?" they ask.

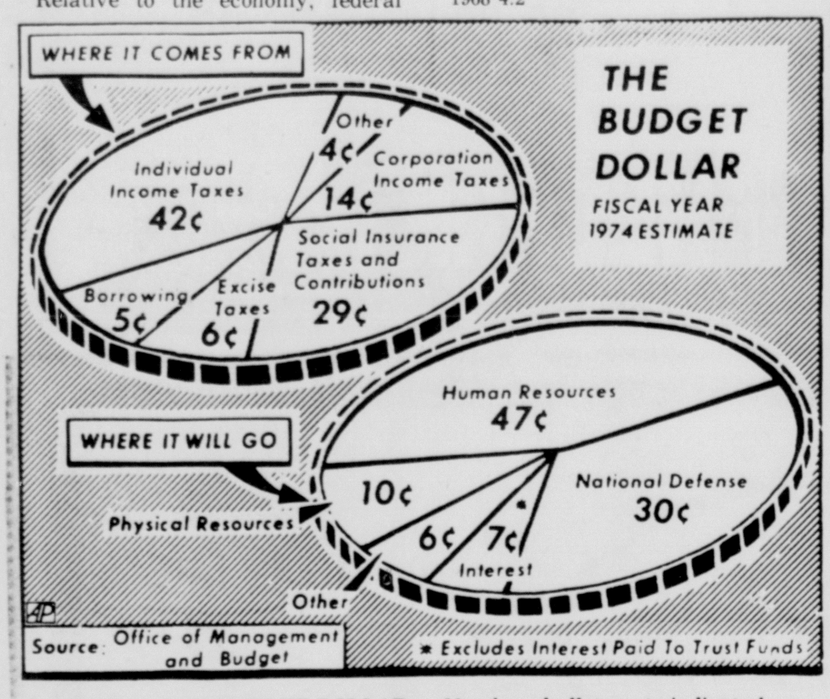

To which Heller responds: "The government never has to pay off the debt, any more than industry or homeowners as a group have to pay off theirs. As an individual you must pay the mortgage. But collectively, all mortgages don't have to be paid."

Cautioned Heller: "You cannot extrapolate what happens to you as an individual, because it is not happening to the group." Man the individual dies, he explained, but man collectively goes on. So does government. "The totals will always go up."

It might shock some people, Heller suggested, to realize that every type of debt — installment, homeowner, industrial and the like — is rising at faster rate than the federal debt.

One of the dangers in deficits and debt is that, if uncontrolled, they can impose themselves on the economy so strongly that they cannot be financed through regular lending facilities, McCracken explained.

But that debt, when it can be handled, is among the solid assets of many financial institutions. They hold government paper, collect interest on it, help refinance it and, in summary, consider it good as gold.

CUTTING THE BUDGET DOLLAR — Numbered allotments indicate how the proposed 1974 fiscal budget will be sliced in terms of individual dollars representing funds and expenditures.

Heath, Nixon plan talks on Mideast

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath leaves for Washington today with a proposal for President Nixon for a new peacemaking approach in the Middle East.

Qualified British sources said Heath wants Nixon to put pressure on Israel to come to terms swiftly while European governments do the same with the Arabs.

Heath and Nixon begin their two-day conference in the White House Thursday. It will be the President's first encounter with the head of a foreign government since his inauguration. It will be Heath's first meeting with the President since Britain joined the commom market Jan. 1. On Friday, they continue their discussions at Camp David, Md.

While the leaders range over policy, the more detailed intricacies of foreign affairs will occupy Britain's foreign secretary, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, and Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The talks will include Soviet and Chinese intentions, international trade and reforms to the world money system.

Among other topics due to come up in the British-American exchanges:

— A redefinition of the shared intersts and common aims of the Western powers despite their periodic clashes in economic and political sectors.

— Analyses of the trends and motives in the policies of such countries as the Soviet Union, China and India.

— Security situations in Europe, in the Middle East, the Indian Ocean and the Far East in the post-Vietnam era.

— Tactics to be adopted by the North Atlantic allies in coming negotiations on European security and force cut in Europe.

— The implications for the lesser nuclear powers — Britain and France — in the strategic arms limitation talks between the United States and Russia. This could vitally affect Heath's pet project — a pooling of British and French nuclear arms sources.

Treatment of Air Force returnees to be individual

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Treatment of Vietnam POWs returning to the United States will be a highly individual process, according to Lt. Col. Nick Apple, public affairs officer at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Wright-Patterson is one of 31 military installations that will have reorientation programs for returning American POWs. The Ohio air force base will receive men whose hometowns are in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Apple said that how much time a man spends at the base and the extent of his treatment all depends on the individual's response and that care will be tailor made to meet the individual's needs.

It is likely that those men who spent the longest time in prison camps will require more extensive and lengthier care, according to Apple. Each man's stay at the base will depend upon how quickly he adjusts to American society, he added.

Upon arrival at the base the men will be given medical checkups, intelligence debriefings and will be reunited with their families.

Private family reunions will be held and housing will be provided for the men's families.

Once the returnee and his doctor feel that the man is physically and mentally ready, each man will have the freedom of the hospital, base and the community while being debriefed.

He will not have to live in the hospital and will have the choice of other base or private housing while the re-entry process goes on. Military duties will be suspended for a while during the process.

Hard freeze hits south after snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A hard freeze stung wide areas of the Deep South today in the wake of a winter storm that dumped more than a foot of snow into the central and northern Appalachians.

Cold-wave warnings were in effect from Georgia to North Carolina and for eastern New York and Vermont. High winds on land and gale-force winds off the southern New England coast were predicted as the storm that hit much of the East Monday swirled into southeastern Canada.

Temperatures skidded into the low 20s as far south as central Georgia long before daybreak.

A few snow flurries lingered over the northern Mississippi Valley and the Appalachians.

In the West, a cold front pushing through the Great Basin scattered rain over the northern Pacific Coast and rain and some snow over northern California.

U.S. forces in Thailand to be cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of American airmen and planes based in Thailand will be reduced in proportion to the progress made in securing an effective Indochina-wide cease-fire according to the Thai ambassador to the United States.

An understanding between the United States and Thailand, where some 40,000 Americans are based, was spelled out by Ambassador Anand Panyarachun in an interview.

He said the Thai government has agreed to continue permitting the United States to use bases in Thailand for the time being. But the number will be reduced in proportion to the degree of fighting, the envoy said.

"If there is real peace in Laos and Cambodia as well as Vietnam and the possibility of it continuing, there is no use to invoke the use of the bases in Thailand," he said.

American officials confirmed the understanding.

The fighting in Laos is the greatest concern of Thailand since Communist guerrillas from Laos have infiltrated into the northeast section of Thailand.

Anand said he is confident that the guerilla problem can be contained in Thailand if outside powers — China and North Vietnam — stop supporting the guerrillas.

Dealer pleads guilty

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—A probation investigation has been ordered for former Milford new car dealer Johnny Parsons, 52, who pleaded guilty Monday to seven charges in connection with the sale of three stolen cars.

$3,065 in forfeitures, $585 in fines

113 traffic cases before court

One of the heaviest traffic dockets in recent memory was before Municipal Court Monday. Acting Judge John Bryan was on the bench.

Forfeitures alone totaled $3,065 with fines adding another $585 to the total.

Acting Judge Bryan took action in 113 cases, most of them Highway Patrol speeding cases, and continued several others to later court dates. The upsurge in the number of Highway Patrol cases stems from the effective use of the new "moving radar."

Of the cases before the court, 102 were filed by the Highway Patrol, most of them speeding charges. Many local motorists are now beginning to fell the "pinch" of the new radar, which can detect speeders either approaching or moving away from the cruiser.

Washington C. H. police and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department are also using the new type radar.

Cases called were:

Pro grid teams open pre-draft juggling

NEW YORK (AP) — The trading block got warmed up as teams juggled choice players for player choices on the eve of the National Football League's annual crystal-ball gazing, the collegiate draft.

But the Houston Oilers, whose horrendous 1-13 record in the 1972 season brought them today's top pick, were having the same luck with the rest of the 26 teams of the field as they'd had on it. Despite all efforts to trade away their No. 1 selection for some proven veterans, they couldn't find a taker for it.

They did give up a third round choice and guard Tom Regner to Baltimore Monday in exchange for center Bill Curry.

The Colts were busiest in the swap meet that always precedes the draft. They sent defensive lineman Billy Newsome and a fourth-round choice to New Orleans for the Saints' No. 1 pick—the one right behind the Oilers. And the Colts also picked up "undisclosed draft choices" from Philadelphia in exchange for running back Norm Bulaich.

Then the Saints turned around and picked up second and third-round picks from the New York Jets in trade for jefensive end Richard Neal and cornerback Delles Howell.

Saddled, as it were, with the decision on which player to go for among the 442 prospects, the question was whether the Oilers would go for quarterback Bert Jones or bypass the superb strongarm from Louisiana State in favor of one of the behemoths known as defensive linemen.

"It's hard to just let a great quarterback lay out there and not take him," Houston Coach Bill Peterson said—but it's more likely the Oilers will stick with Dan Pastorini and Lynn Dickey and choose instead from either mammoth Dave Butz, Purdue's 6-foot-7, 290-pounder, or 275-pound John Matuszak of Tampa to anchor the defensive line.

There are also plenty of offensive brutes to pick from in this "Year of the Lineman," among them Texas' Jerry Sisemore, Alabama's John Hannah and Michigan's Paul Seymour. But Jones is hardly the only standout quarterback. Florida State's Gary Huff, Oregon's Dan Fouts and Virginia Tech's Don Strock are likely to be grabbed before the first of the two days' drafting is over.

Thanks to the wholesale trading that can send players and picks swirling around tha league like confetti, seven teams will have two first-round picks and seven others have none.

The Super Bowl champion Dolphins won't make their first pick until the 52nd name comes up while the Redskins, who built their championship team on Coach George Allen's "the future is now" philosophy, must wait until choice No. 129—way back in the fifth round—before dipping into the collegiate pool.

UCLA remains firmly atop cage ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA's record-breaking Bruins are a unanimous choice again as No.1 in The Associated Press' college basketball poll.

The California powerhouse set an all-time record winning streak with 61 last week with victories over Loyola of Chicago and Notre Dame.

As a result, the front-running Bruins, 16-0, received all 33 first-place votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters for a total of 660 points. The Bruins had garnered all but one first-place in the two previous polls.

North Carolina State, 14-0, remained in second place, 68 points behind the high-flying Bruins. The undefeated Wolfpack clobbered Furman 98-73 last week for their 14th victory this year. North Carolina State had gotten one firstplace vote in each of the two previous polls.

Maryland moved up a place to third with 471 points after defeating North Carolina, last week's No. 3 team. While the Terps, 14-1, moved from fourth to third, North Carolina, 15-3, dropped to No. 8.

The rest of this week's Top Ten includes: No. 4 Long Beach State, 16-1; No. 5 Indiana, 13-2; No. 6 Alabama, 13-1; No. 7 Missouri, 14-2; No. 9 Minnesota, 12-2, and No. 10 Marquette, 14-2.

Few changes seen in AP Ohio prep cage ratings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Cleveland East Tech, Waverly and Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South kept their No. 1 spots as The Associated Press Ohio high school basketball ratings underwent few changes this week.

Cleveland East Tech retained its class AAA lead in another close duel with persistent second-place Canton Lehman. The Scarabs, 13-2, were just two points in front of Lehman 191-189.

Waverly opened up the biggest lead in the three divisions, chalking up 188 points for the Class AA top spot over new runnerup Willard's 144 points.

Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South, a defending state tournament champion like East Tech, remained in front of No. 2 Marion Pleasant 192-178 in Class A.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters made no changes in the casts of the top tens, although there was some minor reshuffling.

In Class AAA, Springfield South, ninth last week, swapped places with No. 8 Boardman.

In Class AA, Willard moved past defending state tournament king Columbus Ready into the No. 2 spot, Rossford slipped around Steubenville Catholic into No. 4 and Albany Alexander moved from ninth to eighth ahead of Gallipolis.

The biggest advance in Class A was Greenwich South Central's jump from tenth to eighth, changing spots with Fostoria St. Wendelin, an upset victim of upper Scioto Valley last week.

Zanesville Rosecrans moved up one notch to sixth in Class A ahead of McDonald.

Barberton again was third in Class AAA, Newark fourth, Hamilton Taft fifth, Mansfield Senior sixth, Columbus South eventh and Middletown tenth.

Poland was sixth again in Class AA, Huron seventh and Tipp City No. 10.

Fort Recovery, Wapakoneta St. Joseph and Sebring kept the No. 3, 4 and 5 spots in Class A with Strasburg again ninth in the small school class.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school basketball teams this week for The Associated Press (10 points for first to 1 point for tenth):

Rendezvous Room cops city team pin crown

The Rendezvous Room captured the championship in the team events portion of the annual Washington C. H. Women's Bowling Association tournament held Sunday afternoon at Bowland Lanes.

The new champions topped the 36-team field with a fine 3019 total score, which was 117 pins better than their nearest challengers.

Jeddy Graves, the Washington C. H. all-events champion a year ago, sparked the win with a spiffy 559 total and Phyllis Brackney fired a 540. Mary Palmer's 540 score was next in line, followed by Jean Mattison's 476 and a 471-pin performance from Jean Palmer.

THE WINNERS compiled a 2572 scratch figure and had a 447-pin handicap for the 3019 total.

Antoinette Beauty Salon was 117 pins off the pace of the Rendezvous Room and finished in second place with a 2902 total. The First National Bank landed a third place finish with a 2880 sum and DeWees Electric was a close fourth with 2877.

Sulky Restaurant No. 2 was fifth with a 2842 total, followed in order by Shupert's Implement with 2829 and Stew's Automotive with 2815.

Verna Williams, secretary of the Washington C. H. Women's Bowling Association, said that the doubles and singles portions of the city bowling tournament will be held Sunday at Bowland Lanes. Action with three shifts bowling will begin at 11 a.m.

Lamar buckets 50 points as SWL buries Houston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here comes Dwight Lamar. Oops—there goes Dwight Lamar.

The Southwestern Louisiana star had Houston Baptist coming any going Monday night with a flashy, 50-point performance.

"It would be hard to ask for a better performance than Lamar gave tonight," said Southwestern Louisiana Coach Beryl Shipley after his 13th-ranked Ragin' Cajuns buried Houston Baptist 123-91 in college basketball.

The two-time national scoring champion made 23 of 38 attempts from the field, many of them from beyond 20 feet. In addition, the flamboyant guard contributed seven assists to Southwestern Louisiana's highpowered offense.

"I enjoy our offense because it's wide open and allows for more scoring," said Lamar, who won the nation's scoring title when the Ragin' Cajuns were in the college division two years ago and then repeated when they moved up to major college status last season.

In the other games involving Top Twenty teams, Kentucky upset No.6 Alabama 95-93; No.9 Minnesota crushed Wisconsin 81-64; No.10 Marquette bombed Xavier, Ohio, 90-61 and No. 19 Oral Roberts turned back Lamar, Tex., 106-83.

Elsewhere, Iowa beat Michigan 75-68; Louisvile turned back New Mexico State 91-64; Tulsa defeated Creighton 76-68; Austin Peay trimmed Western Kentucky 92-86; Tennessee tripped Louisiana State 73-71 and Oklahoma nipped Louisianna Tech 65-63.

The Michigan-Iowa game was a slam-bang affair that was marred by technical fouls and near-chaos at the end. The game ended with one second left as Iowa center Kevin Kunnert drove for a layup and got a violent foul from Michigan's John Lockard.

Lockhard's brazen belt swelled Kunnert's cheek and brought both benches swarming to the floor.

Reds' Bobby Tolan to speak tonight

Bobby Tolan, the Cincinnati Reds' fleet-footed centerfielder who made one of baseball's greatest comebacks in 1972, will be the featured speaker at the Grace United Methodist Church Father-Son banquet tonight.

The banquet, scheduled at 6:30 p.m., will be held in Fellowship Hall.

The 27-year-old Tolan overcame two torn Achilles tendon operations to hit .283 and steal 42 bases for the National League pennant winners this season.

Upset epidemic continues to haunt SCOL cage teams

An upset epidemic continues to lurk over the crowded South Central Ohio League basketball race.

Two more surprises were dished out in last Friday night's action and those startling developments almost proved fatal for the SCOL's co-leaders.

In the most recent shockers, Wilmington handed the title-hungry Washington C. H. Blue Lions a stunning 73-67 shiner, but at the same time Hillsboro was dealing co-leading Circleville a 63-59 setback. Miami Trace whacked Greenfield McClain 90-58 in the other SCOL game.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S results tightened the SCOL standings a bit more, leaving Washington C. H. and Circleville tied for league supremacy with identical 5-2 records and Miami Trace and Wilmington waiting in the wings only one game off the pace.

Hillsboro's indians continue to be the primary culprits in the upset-studded SCOL season. Head coach Robert Ream's rascally Indians shocked Wilmington 64-54, but pulled off a bigger surprise by topping Circleville in a contest in which the Tigers never experienced the upper hand.

The six head coaches will be warning their cagers about the upset bug in preparing for this week's crucial outings.

A bulky seven-game docket looms for the SCOL quintets, but the teams will be looking past Saturday night's non-league contests to concentrate on the three SCOL wars Friday.

The Miami Trace - Circleville fracas figures to be the SCOL's feature attraction this week with the rebounding Panthers risking a three-game winning spree, but more importantly, the Tigers putting their share of the SCOL leadership in jeopardy.

MIAMI TRACE will be hoping to improve its 4-3 SCOL tab in the 8 p.m. contest which will be played at Circleville's old Mill St. gym.

In other action, the Washington C. H. Blue Lions will entertain the upset-minded Hillsboro Indians. The Lions, shooting for their first SCOL flag in almost two decades, will be hoping to stay atop the SCOL pack in the struggle with the Indians who will carry a two-game win streak into the game.

The SCOL schedule also sends Greenfield to Wilmington. Head coach Sam Snyder's Tigers are still searching for their initial win inside the SCOL.

Saturday night's card has Miami Trace at Columbus Bishop Hartley, Circleville at Hamilton Township, Chillicothe at Greenfield and Wilmington at Hamilton Taft

WCH eighth graders nipped

Lion frosh register fifth straight win

Washington C.H.'s freshman basketball team, behind a combined 50-point scoring output from Chuck Byrd and Doug Phillips, whacked Madison Plains 70-41 Monday night at Mount Sterling.

It was the fifth consecutive win of the season for Coach Don Gibbs' Blue Lion cagers and pumped their glittering all-games record to a 9-1 level.

In other action Monday night, the Washington C.H. eighth grade team dropped a hard-fought 40-39 decision at Wilmington.

BYRD SPARKED Washington C.H.'s scoring punch with 27 points on the basis of 13 field goals and a free throw while Phillips connected for five field goals and 13 of 14 free throws for 23 points.

The Lion frosh, in registering their ninth win in 10 starts, zipped to a 35-19 halftime cushion and erupted for 27 points in the third quarter to hold a 62-27 bulge heading into the fourth quarter.

After trailing by as much as nine points in the early going of the fourth period. Coach Ken Hays' Lion eight graders bounced back within reach, but dropped their fourth game in a row.

Ted Mercer's 15-point performance was tops for the Blue Lion eighth graders, now 2-6 on the season.

Bengals may get leavings due to poor drafting spot

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals face the National Football League college draft today like a KP at the officers mess—hoping to make the best of what's left over.

The Bengals, with an 8-6 record, will alternate with Kansas City and Baltimore, picking from 15th, 16th and 17th positions. The teams with poorer records pick ahead of them...that is, unless the Bengals make a trade for a lower drafting position. Trades are permitted during the draft.

Coach and General Manager Paul Brown figures "by the time it gets down to our turn, the list could be pretty lean." The list, according to Brown, has "10 or 12 or 14 blue chippers."

But, he speculated, "then again, we could get lucky."

Cincinnati went for defensive players in 1972 and came out with plums like defensive end Sherman White and safety Tommy Casanova.

But Brown has made it known he is looking for running backs, receivers and maybe some help in the offensive line.

The 1972 Bengals defensive unit developed into one of pro football's toughest, but the offense was sluggish.

Brown conceded that his staff had made a number of contacts with other teams considering the possibility of trades for draft choices.

"We've been playing around with that kind of thinking for a week," he said, "and we've made a lot of telephone calls."

So far, nothing has developed, Brown said, "but you never know when someone might decide to nibble."

He said a lot of clubs like "to sleep on something like that" before coming to a decision.

The Bengals will, like other teams, operate from their office here by telephone to all other clubs during the draft. The draft is coordinated in New York at the NFL office.

Clem's Joy winner of Latonia feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Bold Colonel and R.J.'s Star, carrying top weights of 120 pounds will be challenged by Cuban Rum, 114, for the $5,000 purse in tonight's featured eighth race over six furlongs at Latonia.

Clem's Joy won the featured Monday night and paid $4.20, $3.40 and $2.60. Davinia placed, $4.20 and $3.60 and the show horse was Run Dandy, $6.

Bengals pre-season schedule heavy

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals plan stiff preseason play next fall with Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins, the Green Bay Packers, Cleveland Browns and the Atlanta Falcons.

The Bengals announced Monday they will play the Dolphins in Miami on Saturday, Aug. 4.

They will meet Cleveland in the second annual pre-season rivalry at Ohio Stadium in Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 19. They will host Green Bay here Sept. 8

King Island golf tourney to draw top contestants

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)— Jack Nicklaus says he wants "to bring golf back to my native Ohio" as one of the prime reasons for staging the first $125,000 Ohio Kings Island Open golf tourney here Oct. 4-7.

Nicklaus said "we'll make some changes" on the Jack Nicklaus Golf Center, adjacent to the new Kings Island Amusement park, for the professional tournament.

"This course was designed for public play," Nicklaus told a news conference Monday, "but I don't think the alterations will be a problem." He said the course will be returned to normal conditions for the public. He did not say what alterations would be made for the pros except that the tees will be moved back.

Nicklaus flew to the news conference fresh from winning the Bing Crosby Open at Pebble Beach. He was first to sign up for the tournament here and predicted many other top golfers, including Lee Trevino, will enter.

"We'll have the competition, and that means having some top players," said Nicklaus. "I've always had a great desire to have a pro golf tourney in Ohio."

Nicklaus, a native of Columbus, Ohio, said the tourney could be as successful here, about 25 miles north of Cincinnati, as anywhere.

"You don't have to have a tournament at Pebble Beach to be successful," he said.

Charles S. Mechem Jr., board chairman of Taft Broadcasting Inc., tourney sponsor, said the first prize would be $25,000.

Nicklaus planned to return to his home in Florida today after attending an awards dinner Monday night at Buffalo, N.Y.

Nicklaus said he was sympathetic with Orville Moody, who blew an 18-inch putt on the final hole at the Crosby and allowed Nicklaus and Raymond Floyd to tie him and force a sudden death playoff. Nicklaus won.

"Sure, I feel sorry for him, but it happens to all of us on the tour."

Seniors of week

By ROBIN BRIGGS

Our first featured senior this week is Jeanne Gad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gad, 607 Lamar Court.

In school Jeanne is taking American Government, English Composition, notehand, speech and English 12. Her school activities include Senior Y-Teens, AFS, senior class treasurer, secretary of National Honor Society and working in the counselor's office.

Her hobbies include cooking, horseback riding, working, making ceramics and raising her five turtles. She is a member of St. Colman's Catholic Church.

Jeanne's comment on being a senior was, "I really love being a senior. The school is the best and most of the classes are great. But I can't wait until college and getting started on my career."

OUR SECOND featured senior this week is Bob Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne, 819 Lakeview Drive. Bob has two sisters, Debbie and Sharon, and two brothers, Ken and Steve.

He is very active in school. He is a member of Hi-Y, the Lettermen's Club and the track team. In his spare time Bob enjoys swimming, horseback riding, football and tennis.

After graduation Bob plans to attend college. When asked if he would be glad to get out of school Bob said, "I'll be glad, but I'll miss the activities and the fun."

DE student of week

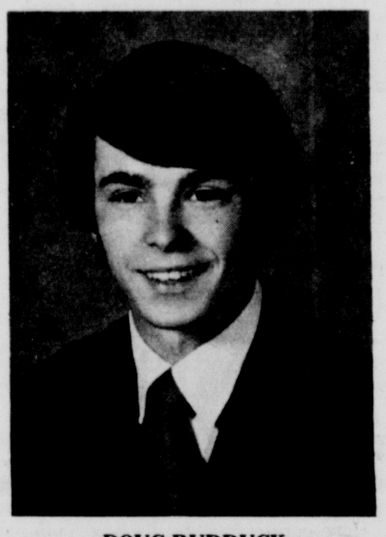

By JULIE SHOEMAKER

This week the Blue Lines newspaper staff selected Doug Rudduck as the Distributive Education student of the week.

Doug is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rudduck, 932 S. Main St.

Along with his courses of American Government, Communications, DE II and physical education, Doug is involved in varsity basketball, Hi-Y, DECA and AFS. In his spare time he enjoys building model cars, hiking, sports of all kinds and driving.

He is employed at Kaufman's Bargain Store, under the DE program.

Mr. Cluff: "It's great!!"

Ima Darling: "Gravy, can ya dip it! I think they deserve it because they have worked so hard.

Jill Willis: "Far out!!"

Cindy Fields: "Out of State!"

Jeff Wallace: "It's a feeling that I've never felt before."

Lyn Mason: "It's great!"

Jody Pitzer: "I don't believe it."

Sue King: "After the Trace game, we deserve it."

Mike Kimmett: "I think it's great. It's been a long time."

Teresa Kellenberger: "It's super."

Albert Donahue: "We are the best team because we don't play as individuals but as a team."

Victor Aleshire: "It's about time. We could use a gold basketball."

Mike Domenico: "I feel due to recent surge of popularity, stems from the acute rationalization of the body of our institutionalization. Actually, it freaks my mind!"

Jacci Sagar: "What else could we be?"

Robin Briggs: "I think it's great. The guys have worked and really deserve it."

Vote no ordination of Episcopal women

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Delegates to a convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles, the church's largest, have voted against ordination of women to the priesthood.

Meeting here during the weekend, the 1,000 clergy and lay delegates passed by voice vote a resolution endorsing the "ancient and traditional" practice of ordaining only men to the priesthood.

Welcome to WSHS

By KATHY BINZEL

You may have seen a new face around the halls of Washington Senior High School.

Her name is Melanie Anne Marti and she lives at 512 Columbus Ave., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Marti. She's 17 and a member of the senior class, enrolled in American Government, Typing II, Physical Education, Chemistry, English Literature, choir and office practice.

Back in Breckenridge, Mich., she was in the Drama Club, and ran cross country for the track team. She has joined Y-Teens here. Her hobbies include horseback riding, swimming, bowling, ice skating, and dating around.

Her comment on WSHS was, "People are friendlier here than in Michigan. I really like being here at WSHS."

The Blue Lines staff would like to wish Mel lots of luck and happiness here at WSHS.

Featured cheerleader feels school spirit on increase

Jacci Sagar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sagar Jr., Rt. 6, Washington C. H., is the featured cheerleader of the week.

Besides being a cheerleader for the past four years, Jacci is also active in Y-Teens. She is enrolled in a college preparatory course and is taking government, speech, home economics for non-majors, English composition, physical education and English 12.

In her spare time, Jacci enjoys reading, watching television and supporting the No. 1 basketball team in the SCOL.

When asked about how she feels about cheerleading and the spirit at WSHS Jacci replied, "Being a cheerleader has been fun and an experience I'll never forget. Besides getting in the games free, I have one of the best seats in the gym. The spirit at school has risen continuously and especially since the Circleville game and when we beat that team out in the country."

Egyptians in arrears on wheat payments

CANBERRA (AP) — Egypt is $24 million in arrears in wheat payments to the Australian Wheat Board, Treasurer Frank Crean reported.

Crean Sunday said the total amount owed by Egypt is about $156 million, due at varying dates over the next three years under the credit system. Since 1970, Egypt has received $240 million worth of Australian wheat and has paid only $84 million, he added.

Coal dealers feeling pinch of modern life

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP) — Coal dealers in Newfoundland are going out of business.

And the smoke signals are beginning to disappear. In the old days, people in the outports peeped out their windows each morning to see smoke from their neighbors' chimneys, signifying it was life as usual.

Like the old kerosene lamp in the window at dusk, the morning smoke from burning coal was a signal that all was well in the home of a widow or other lone dweller.

But the kerosene lamp and the cast-iron wood and coal stove now are in disfavor among most Newfoundland homeowners who are opting for electricity, oil and gas.

NEWFOUNDLAND was once a big customer for coal mined in Cape Breton and thousands of tons were shipped to the province each fall from North Sydney, N.S.

Harvey and Co. of St. John's, which recently discontinued the business after importing coal for 110 years, bought up to 70,000 tons annually. By 1971 their imports had dropped to 2,000 tons.

Another major importer, Rorke Salt and Coal Co. of Caronear, quit importing coal in 1972 after being in business since 1838. Increasing use of electricity, oil and gas for heating and cooking led to the move.

In the days of the old sailing schooner when seamen were willing to work for low wages, coal sold on the Burin Peninsula for as little as $6 a ton. Today it retails in St. John's for $55 a ton loose and $65 a ton bagged and the buyer may pay the trucking costs.

DESPITE the high prices, dealer profits are not exorbitant. Coal loaded on board ship at Sydney costs about $22 a ton. Freight to Newfoundland is about $10 a ton and then there are handling and distribution costs.

One importing company, Avalon Coal and Salt Ltd, of Bay Roberts, has decided to keep on buying and distributing coal and will also supply smaller dealers in St. John's who find it uneconomical to import themselves.

Jacket spots thief

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The person who took John B. Bayles' jacket from a city restaurant won't be wearing it much in public.

Bayles is a motorcycle policeman and the black leather jacket bears his badge 626.

The jacket was taken from a coat rack while Bayles was on a supper break.

Ski slope prospector hunts coins

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — Marshall Hatfield just can't wait to get back on the ski slopes.

But while ski buffs bide their time waiting for the first heavy snow of the season, Hatfield waits until the spring thaw on the mountain slopes.

Hatfield isn't a skier. He is a coin "collector."

Hatfield, a native of Wagner, S. D., moved here in 1952 and is a custodian at Jackson Hole Junior High.

He recently purchased an electronic instrument that detects metal just below the ground's surface.

The instrument emits a constant low-pitched whine that stops whenever it crosses a bit of metal.

Hatfield, who is married and has five children, then digs into the ground and comes up with a penny, nickel, dime, quarter, or more often — a bottle cap.

Hatfield says he "has pocketed quite a bit of change" while using his device in a local park. But he says the hunting was much better last summer on the ski slopes.

"Obviously, a great many skiers didn't have their money in a snug place when they hit the snow," he said.

Hatfield said his most interesting find was a table knife in the grass in the middle of a ski slope. "What anyone was doing with a table knife on the ski slope I couldn't understand," he said.

What does Hatfield plan to do with the "fortune" he has amassed?

Right now he's saving the money to pay for his coin-finder, which cost $140.

Bulrushes preserved

They are being replanted in the bed of a nearby stream.

Heartburn and Indigestion

I constantly read that attacks of heartburn in men past 50 may actually indicate some form of heart disease. I am 56.

When I get an attack in the middle of the night both my wife and I become terrified.

Is there really a relationship between heartburn and heart attacks?

Mr. P. O. N., Calif

Dear Mr. N.:

I gather from your letter that there is a great deal of anxiety — and confusion — about the problem you describe.

I have never been aware that any writers suggest such a close relationship between heartburn and heart disease.

Perhaps you are confusing the very sane suggestion that repeated attacks of indigestion may be overlooked when in reality some other condition is present.

Indigestion actually is a symptom complex which includes heartburn among others. Other symptoms of indigestion would be a sense of fullness, a desire to belch, a feeling of abdominal distension, and even abdominal pain. One or more of these symtpoms may indicate some disorder of the stomach and the intestinal tract totally unrelated to the heart.

It is true that some severe attacks of indigestion have later been found to be due to an early heart disorder. It is for this reason that all people who suffer from the distress of indigestion, especially people past the age of 40, should indulge themselves with a complete, general physical examination.

In most instances, the heart is not the offender. But when repeated attacks of indigestion occur the heart can be ruled out as the cause by heart function tests, blood studies, and by electrocardiograms.

To allay your anxiety this must be done. After that, some simple rules of sensible eating can reduce the frequency and severity of indigestion:

—People, when under severe emotional strain and tension, tend to gulp their food, thus swallowing large amounts of air.

—Overeating, especially foods with a high fat content, should be avoided before going to bed.

—Many people are bothered by gas-forming vegetables such as cabbage, radishes, onions and cucumbers.

—Immoderate smoking and excess alcohol are not recommended for men or women prone to indigestion.

Heartburn, symptom itself, is often confused with indigestion. This burning sensation has been considered the result of stomach acids finding their way into the esophagus.

It is interesting that heartburn, known as "pyrosis," can be caused by other conditions besides "excess acidity." It is for this reason that frequent attacks of heartburn, whether alone or in combination with other symptoms, deserves intensive study of the esophagus, the stomach and the entire intestinal tract.

Concern and anxiety about a condition has never been known to eliminate it. The fact so many people feel better in the morning after a nighttime seizure of indigestion or heartburn keeps them from consulting their physician.

This is poor judgment

Opening lead - king of diamonds.

The finesse is undoubtedly a marvelous instrument of play, but there is also no doubt that it is used to excess. After all, whether or not a finesse succeeds is largely a matter of luck, and it is surely unwise to rely on luck when there are other means of achieving one's goal that are less precarious.

Here is a case in point. Let's assume you're in four hearts and West leads the king of diamonds. The possible losers are two spades, a diamond and a club, but you note that one of these might be saved by finessing the queen of spades.

However, the finesse has only a 50 per cent chance of success, so you naturally start looking for other ways and means that will put you on more solid ground. Actually, there is a way of playing the hand that elevates your chances to 100 per cent.

You win the king of diamonds with the ace, draw two rounds of trumps and cash the A-K of clubs. You then exit with a club, not caring a whoop or a holler where the king of spades is located.

Let's say East wins the club with the jack and returns the ten of spades, which is the best he can do. Rejecting the finesse, you rise with the ace and return the jack of diamonds, forcing West to win with the queen.

West becomes a deceased pigeon at this point, for he must either yield a ruff and discard by playing a diamond or a club, or lead a spade and make your queen a trick.

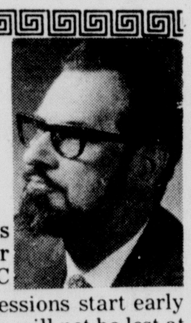

The spade finesse never enters the picture once you make up your mind to leave nothing to chance.

Viet War poem praises 'Victory"

MOSCOW (AP) — Yevgeny Yevtushenko, the Russian poet, has written a poem on the end of the Vietnam war in which he praises the antiwar activities of Jane Fonda and Dr. Benjamin Spock.

The poem, entitled "With Victory," was published Sunday by Pravda. It also mentions Soviet weavers who made the material that clothed "Victory in Vietnam," the Soviet workers who marched in support of Vietnam and Americans who resisted the military draft.

In Focus by Charlie Pensyl

Well, the time has about come for classes to begin at C K F N. The winter sessions start early in February. The tyro will not be lost at these sessions, nor will the expert find them dull, since we try to keep things basic yet present the new stuff as it is announced. Our first sessions will deal with making a good presentation slide show from your vacation. This series will include some of the most beautiful slide shows you have ever seen. Interested? Come in for more information. Soon. You know, owning a camera does you no good whatsoever if you don't have the ability to use it properly.

Mid-winter is projector season and we are getting much comment about the 140 slide tray giving trouble on the Carousel projector. The 140 tray is a special purpose tray, not for general use, regardless of what the characters at Rochester say. The 80 slide tray works well and seems much better suited for general use. I've found the 140 tray to be a big help if I have a slide show to present which is over 81 slides but less than 140. Come in and let us help you with your tray problems.

Again keep in mind the photographic classes starting in February. Photography is fun only when you know how to handle the camera.

CITY POLICEMAN HONORED — Washington C. H. Patrolman Dennis Brown, right, is presented the Navy League Plaque by Chuck Wilson, student commander of the Washington Senior High School Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Brigade, for his efforts in training the cadets in firearms use and weapons safety during the past 15 months. Officer Brown conducted four days of classroom instruction and spent two days on the firing range with the cadets. Commander Robert L. Self (U.S.N. ret.) said the time Brown spent with the cadets and the professionalism displayed by the officer was "invaluable" to the brigade. (Photo by Ed Summers)

Report 250 new truce violations

Procedural disputes delay cease-fire team

SAIGON (AP) — Procedural disputes today continued to delay the dispatch of ceease-fire observers into the South Vietnamese provinces, and the South Vietnamese command reported more than 250 new violations of the truce by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong between noon Monday and dawn Tuesday. But this was a drop of 30 per cent from the previous reporting period.

In Honolulu, the U.S. Pacific Command said U.S. B52 bombers and fighter-bombers continued operations against Communist forces in Laos and Cambodia Monday at the request of the Laotian and Cambodian governments. It gave no details.

Meanwhile, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived in Saigon for his first stop on a seven-nation tour of Southeast Asia and reaffirmed the Nixon administration's support for President Nguyen Van Thieu's regime as the only legitimate government of South Vietnam. He also said the U. S. government does not recognize the right of North Vietnamese troops to remain in South Vietnam.

Agnew said he would hold "important consultations" with Thieu on postwar relations.

The four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision failed to get its seven regional teams in place and operational this morning as called for in the cease-fire agreement because of procedural disputes within the four-party joint military commission made up of the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong. 7

A second planeload of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegates to the joint military commission sat overnight in the plane that brought them to Saigon, refusing to give tacit recognition to the Thieu government by filling out the customs and immigration forms required of all arrivals at Tan Son Nhut airport. U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker called on Thieu a few hours before Agnew arrived, and the government waived the requirement, as it had for another planeload of balky Communists on Monday.

The joint military commission held two meetings Monday, but both broke up in disputes over the failure or refusal of at least one of the two Communist delegations to present credentials. The commission met again for four hours Monday night and for nearly three hours this morning, but there was no word whether any issues had been resolved.

Peace, not war, wrecks village

THANH PHUOC, Vietnam (AP) — This little village of 2,500 survived the war just fine despite its precarious location on the Saigon-Phnom Penh highway. It was peace that brought devastation.

"My house, my clothes, our rice...," wailed 43-year-old Ho Thi Ket, squatting by the smouldering remains of her family's wood and tile home.

Neighbors were too griefstricken to listen. One sadly shook his head at the wreckage of his own brick and masonry home which collapsed to shoulder height when hit by a shell from a tank gun. About half of the village's homes were wrecked.

Villagers had celebrated the ceasefire early with a party Saturday night. The next morning many of them gathered around a radio for the official announcement of the start of the ceasefire at 8 a.m.

President Nguyen Van Thieu came on the air and they leaned forward to listen. "We were very happy, very happy," recalled one villager.

That lasted 15 minutes. At 8:15, the villagers said, a party of Viet Cong entered Thanh Phuoc from the forest in back. Soon after, some South Vietnamese soldiers arrived.

Whoever started it — the villagers say it was the Viet Cong — the battle lasted all day. The government forces used tanks and heavy weapons. The other side fired back with machine guns and bazooka-type rockets.

The houses of Thanh Phuoc lay right in the middle.

The village about 35 miles from Saigon had been lucky during the long war, escaping most of the damage along the highway to Cambodia.

This time it was shatterad. Even the coconuts were charred atop broken palm trees. Residents fled to safely during the fighting, but their cows and chickens didn't.

Rice stocks were also destroyed along with blankets, baby shoes and bottles of beer. Incense burned along with everything else, scenting the air.

A little girl sat atop a cart of rubble, looking calmly at television crews filming her. A black-uniformed militia officer wrote on a banner in red paint: "We accuse the Viet Cong of violating the agreement on January 28, 1973."

One old woman with teeth stained from betel nut cried to herself. Another muttered over and over: "My house is finished, everything is gone, what do I do?"

Other villagers sifted through the smoking ashes for unbroken roof tiles and sheets of tin so they could start all over again.

Watergate case to jury

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last two Watergate defendants are expected to present arguments today disclaiming the government contention that they turned a valid assignment into an illegal campaign of espionage against the Democratic party.

The poltical-espionage trial was expected to go to the jury after closing defense arguments and instructions by U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

G. Gordon Liddy, former legal counsel to President Nixon's campaign finance committee, and James W. McCord Jr., security chief of the Nixon campaign, are the two remaining defendants.

E. Howard Hunt, a White House consultant, pleaded guilty on the third day of trial. Four other men — Bernard L. Barker, Eugenio R. Martinez, Frank A. Sturgis and Virgilio R. Gonzalez, all from the Miami area — pleaded guilty a few days later.

McCord and the four Miamians were captured at gunpoint in the early morning hours of last June 17 inside Democratic National Committee headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex. Liddy and Hunt were charged later with leading a conspiracy that led to the Watergate break-in, the alleged bugging of telephones and attempted bugging of George McGovern's presidential campaign headquarters.

The government presented its 51 witnesses in three weeks, but the defense called its 11 witnesses in a span of one hour and 12 minutes Monday.

"The proof of guilt of the defendants in this case is so overwhelming from a mountain of evidence and testimony from the witness stand ... the only verdict is guilty ...," chief prosecutor Earl J. Uilbert said in closing arguments Monday.

The defense leaned chiefly on character witnesses. McCord's minister said he "has an exceedingly fine reputation." And a college classmate of Liddy said: "I don't think his reputation could be any higher among the people who know him."

Big boost in food prices goes mostly to farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)—New government figures today indicate it cost a family $64 more to eat at home last year, with higher farm prices accounting for $59 of the increase.

The Agriculture Department said the retail cost of a "market basket" list of food items, theoretically enough to feed a typical family of four for one year, was up 5.0 per cent in December from a year earlier.

At the annual rate, the entire market basket for one year would have cost a record $1,338 last month, compared with $1,274 in December 1971 Last month alone the basket cost $8 more or 0.6 per cent, than in November.

According to USDA statistics showing where consumer food dollars go, "the farm value" of the December market basket was $551, or $23 more than in November and $59 above a year earlier.

Meantime, the middleman's share of the basket was $787 in December, down $15 from November.

In December 1971, the middleman's share was $782, or $5 lass than last month. That, coupled with the $59 increase in farm value, accounted for the $64 increase in the one-year market basket.

The USDA formerly published dollar breakdowns for the market basket but recently discontinued the practice. The December rates and comparisons were computed at the request of newsmen.

Farm prices, although volatile, have trended up over the past year. Middleman's spreads tend to widen when farm prices decline and then narrow as prices go up.

Regardless, the USDA reported that the December farm value of what families pay for a market basket of food was up about 12 per cent from a year earlier. The middleman's share, which includes wholesale and retail spreads, was 0.7 per cent higher.

The report, prepared by USDA's Economic Research Service, showed supermarket prices rose for most items, including meat, milk, lettuce and eggs.

Beef, for example, cost more than $1.14 per pound, up 2.3 cents from November and the most since last August when it was nearly $1.16 per pound. That is an all-cut price, including hamburger as well as steak.

Pork prices also were up last month to a record retail average of 88.5 cents per pound, breaking the old mark of 87.5 set last October.

Limousine used by Kennedy to become museum exhibit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The limousine in which President John F. Kennedy was assassinated will be retired from government service, probably to a museum, the Secret Service Says.

The 1961 black Lincoln Continental will be returned soon to the Ford Motor Co., which leases the armor-plated presidential "security limousines," according to Jack Warner of the Secret Service.

At least one firm has expressed an interest in selling the historic vehicle, but a Ford spokesman said the auto "would not be promoted by anybody."

The Edison Institute, which operates the Henry Ford Museum in Greenfield Village, Mich., has the first option on the auto, the Ford spokesman said.

If the museum turns down the vehicle, which is doubtful, the auto probably will be destroyed, he added.

Russell Kruse of Kruse Classic Auction Co. of Auburn, Ind., the firm that recently sold Adolph Hitler's staff car for $153,000, said the Kennedy auto could bring up to a quarter-million dollars on the auction block.

The Ford spokesman, however, emphasized that the car would be "retired gracefully" and would not be sold.

The limousine was 90 per cent rebuilt in 1964 following the assassination in Dallas in 1963, a Secret Service spokesman said.

Ford in 1968 signed an eight-year contract to keep two highpowered, specially equipped presidential limousines available at the White House and to build a new one every four years.

President Lyndon B. Johnson received a new car in 1968 and President Nixon received his new one last year.

Johnson knew peace coming

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson died knowing that a ceasefire agreement had been reached for South Vietnam, his widow says.

Johnson was told personally by President Nixon that a cease-fire accord had been agreed upon, Ladybird Johnson said Monday.

Furthermore, the former president was in the process of preparing a statement to be released when the cease-fire was formally announced, Mrs. Johnson said in a statement.

Johnson died of a heart attack on Monday afternoon, Jan. 22; the ceasefire was announced by Nixon on Tuesday night, Jan. 23.

"So many have expressed sorrow ... that my husband had no knowledge of the ceasefire agreement in Southeast Asia," Mrs. Johnson said. "I think his friends should be told that fate was kind. Lyndon did know that peace had come."

Mrs. Johnson said her husband was kept "continuously informed at every stage of the long negotiations" by the President, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and others.

"He followed those proceedings very closely and said he was so pleased when President Nixon himself called to the final breakthrough," Mrs. Johnson said.

"I give thanks that the great heart which sustained him through his many ordeals sustained Lyndon until he knew the ordeal of war was over," Mrs. Johnson said.

"I shall always be grateful to President Nixon for his consideration on this and in so many other ways."

Israelis driven off?

BEIRUT (AP) — Israeli warplanes attempted to penetrate Syrian air space today but Syrian jets drove them off, an army spokesman reported in Damascus.

Civilian POWs face ouster if they talk to reporters

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — Civilian prisoners of war returning from North Vietnam will be cared for by the "Operation Homecoming" medical and psychological treatment program, but not if they decide to talk to over 100 reporters waiting them here, a State Department spokesman said today.

"If one of the returning civilians wants to hold a press conference he may do so, but only by opting out of the Homecoming program," spokesman Irwin Teven said. "But once he opts out, he may not come back."

Teven's comment was the first word from the State Department on contact between the press and returning civilians. The department is charged with looking after the civilians while they are in "Operation Homecoming."

Military officials at Clark said earlier that the press would not be allowed contact with returning military POWs anywhere in the Pacific area.

Of the 32 civilians the North Vietnamese have admitted holding, 27 are Americans. Teven said at least nine of them were U.S. government employes at the time of their capture, but information was incomplete on the other 18 Americans.

The five foreigners — two Filipinos, two West Germans and a Canadian — also are expected to be returned to Clark Air Base by American planes.

Many of the civilians were captured in South Vietnam and will be turned over to U.S. officials there. Then they will be flown to Clark for processing.

Official civilians — U.S. government employes — will be treated the same as the military. They are a part of the Homecoming Program," Teven said.

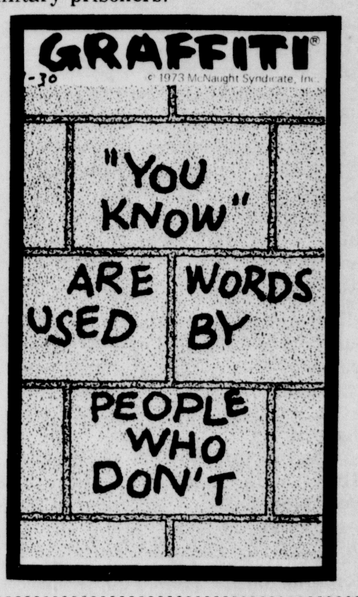

He said the policy on press contact with nonofficial civilian POWs was based on the need for "full parity" between returning civilian and military prisoners.

Richardson wins Senate approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has confirmed the nomination of Elliot L. Richardson as secretary of defense, reducing to three the number of President Nixon's new Cabinet appointees still to be confirmed.

Two nominees are to be taken up Wednesday, with a midafternoon vote scheduled on the nomination of Peter J. Brennan, New York labor leader, as secretary of labor.

A vote is expected Wednesday or Thursday on the nomination of James T. Lynn to be secretary of housing and urban development.

37 persons die in air crash; 7 are Americans

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Seven Americans and 30 others aboard an Egyptian jetliner from Cairo were killed Monday night when the plane struck a mountain ridge while approaching Nicosia airport.

Misrair, the Egyptian airline, said the Americans were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Burne Miller, Raymond Jeanne, Thomas Woods and Ann Valentine.

Their hometowns were not immediately available.

Engines hit caboose

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — Two engines that were hooked together crashed into the caboose of a stopped freight train Monday night in a mixup on the north-south Penn Central line between Ashtabula and Youngstown. There were no injuries.

Weather

Clear to partly cloudy tonight, with lows in the 20s. Partly cloudy Wednesday with highs mostly in the 40s.

Army hospital to meet all POW requests

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—If a prisoner-of-war has a request that can't be filled, the Army will be surprised.

"We've been preparing for these men for more than a year," said Maj. Louis Oliverio, chief of operations at Ireland Army Hospital. "We think we've thought of everything."

The hospital will become a temporary home for the prisoners after they are flown from Vietnam. They will be housed on the seventh floor but will have access to all sections of the building.

No one knows, or will say, how many prisoners are coming. They will, however, be soldiers whose homes are in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and possibly Illinois, West Virginia and Tennessee.

"We've got 50 beds on the seventh floor," said Oliverio, "and we can handle more patients, if the number goes higher. I don't think it will."

One room has been set aside for briefings, where the men can catch up on the events of past years. It contains films, books and pamphlets which, said Oliverio, "can bring a man up to date on what he's missed."

There's also a library, dining facilities and a shoe repair shop. "All a man has to do is ask, and we'll see what can be done about filling his request," said Oliverio.

Families of the prisoners will be staying at a nearby guest house on the post. It is only a short distance from the hospital, where the Army wants the reunions to take place.

The POWs will make one stop at Louisville's Standiford Field so they can be transferred to medical helicopters for the trip to Knox.

"We have been trying to discourage relatives from meeting the men at Standiford," said Lt. Col. Bud Reid, a Public Information spokesman.

"I know it will be difficult but if a large group shows up in Louisville, it's just going to delay those families waiting at Knox," he explained.

Reid said the men will be examined and debriefed "in the hopes that we may learn something about Army personnel still missing in Vietnam."

After the prisoners reach Knox, they will be isolated for 24 hours from everyone but medical personnel and their families.

"Newmen will not be allowed to interview a prisoner until he feels he is ready," said Reij. There will, however, be daily press briefings.

"Some of these men will be coming home to problems they don't know about yet," Reid continued, "and we want to make the transition as smooth as possible."

"Once a man feels well enogh to travel," he said, "we'll give him a 90-day furlough and make the necessary arrangements."

Leaving Vietnam, the prisoners will make a stop at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines. "When they reach Clark, said Reid, "we'll know how many are heading for Knox."

This post, with its 50,000 population, military and civilian, is often called Kentucky's third largest city. It is planning a warm welcome for the POWs.

"The Army," said one GI, "knows how to take care of its own."

Crissingers taking over Jeff eatery

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Crissinger, Holly Dr., who opened Crissinger's Tasty Shop, 201 S. Main St., in the former Pennsylvania Railroad depot in 1963 are in the process of branching out in their business.

Crissinger said he and Mrs. Crissinger will take over DeWine's Steak House in Jeffersonville as soon as the D-1 permit, held by J.R. DeWine, is transferred by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control. The D-1 permit is for 3.2 beer consumption on the premises and carry-out.

The Crissingers came to Washington C.H. from Columbus in 1941. He was employed for a time in the Aeronautical Products, Inc., (API) plant during World War II and in 1951 went into business with the Sunshine Laundry.

DeWine's Steak House was opened in Jeffersonville about 20 years ago and has been operated as a "full service restaurant." The Crissingers plan extensive remodeling and changing the name from Steak House to Jeffersonville Inn, but will continue the "full restaurant" service. The Crissinger Tasty Shop features pizza and Italian food.

DeWine could not be reached for comment on his plans for the future.

Good Shepherd adopts budget

A 1973 budget for Good Shepherd Lutheran Church was adopted, and four new councilmen were named at the annual congregational meeting Sunday following potluck supper.

The budget includes $18,595 for current expenses, $5,585 for debt reduction (church construction) and $4,470 for benevolences.

Glen Steinke was elected to fill out the unexpired term of Wilmer Bergdolt on the Church Council; Bergdolt resigned when he and his family moved to Goshen, Ind. Three new councilmen, Mrs. Stanley Graumlich, Hargis Ramey and Robert Lee were elected for three-year terms.

South Solon pushes crossing protection

SOUTH SOLON — This village hopes to know within the next two weeks whether it will get flasher lights at the DT&I Railroad crossing of Ohio 323 at the eastern edge of town.

More than 200 residents of the village met with representatives of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission and Madison County officials Monday night in the community building. The meeting was conducted by Mayor Stanley Marsh.

After the appeal for flasher lights at the crossing had been discussed and facts and figures given to the PUCO representatives, there was a long question and answer period.

The meeting itself came to no conclusions, but Mayor Marsh said a formal application will be made to the PUCO within a couple of weeks.

It was brought out that 12 trains pass the intersection daily and school buses cross the tracks 22 times a day. School Principal Carl E. Carothers was killed Dec. 12 when his car was hit by a DT&I train there.

The cost of the flashers is estimated at $40,000. Mayor March said he understands federal funds are available to meet the cost without sharing it with the village.

Senate studies bill to free frozen funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid a deepening White House-congressional rift over spending, a Senate subcommittee begins hearings today on a bill that would give Congress the power to override presidential impoundment of appropriated funds.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr.,D-N.C., is chief sponsor of the bill and it is his Judiciary subcommittee that is conducting the hearings.

Ervin said Monday that, however worthy President Nixon's motives in withholding appropriations, Congress cannot "legalize an inherently unconstitutional act."

"The Congress," Ervin said, "must not become a stepchild of the executive, and the presidency must not be allowed to assume the powers of a divine monarchy."

Fifty senators have cosponosored the bill, but sharp differences between Democrats and Republicans were evident in statements by opposing leaders.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott said President Nixon's impoundment of about $10 billion in appropriated funds was necessary because "if the Congress can't add, the President must subtract so taxes won't multiply."

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, however, said all senators should "stand up for the constitutional rights" of Congress to legislate spending limits.

Ervin's bill says Congress must approve any impoundment ordered by the President within a period of 60 days or such impounding must cease.

Nixon, in an effort to control inflation, is refusing to spend money Congress appropriated for a variety of programs.

4-H Tractor Club to meet Thursday

Young people 12 years old and over with an interest in farm tractor maintenance and safety may join the 4-H Tractor Club. The club will hold its organization meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Greenline Equipment, U. S. 22.

Meetings will be held at various tractor and equipment dealers, places of business throughout the county. The project will be completed in mid-April and climaxed June 3 with the annual tractor rodeo.

The project is designed to teach how better tractor care and safety results in longer life, more power and lower operating costs. Members will learn safe tractor operation and basic mechanics as well as daily maintenance requirements.

Members are expected to have a tractor available to use and study in the project. Advisors for 1973 are Joe Geesling, Frank Dill, Lowell Woods, Jim Garland and John Hiser.

Anyone interested may join by attending the organizational meeting or by calling the Fayette County Extension Service office, 335-1150.

Prayer breakfast topic is 'Peace'

Thoughts of peace overshadowed all else at the weekly prayer breakfast for teenagers in the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday. Prayers of thanks were offered for the cease-fire in Indochina and for the safe return of the prisoners of war and the missing in action who may still be alive.

Jane Bolender, a WJHS freshman, led the singing, and Kevin Blair, a WJHS freshman gave the student devotional. Kevin Pfeifer dismissed the group of 56 students and teachers with a prayer. Included in the group were 14 freshmen, 18 sophomores, 9 juniors, 9 seniors and 6 teachers. The Rev. Charles J. Richmond is the pastor.

Man sentenced on rioting charge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gerald K. Seevers, 21, of Columbus has been sentanced to seven months in county jail and fined $500 and costs after being found guilty of rioting.

Seevers, a truck driver, was accused of rioting during anti-ROTC demonstrations at Ohio State University last May. A jury found him guilty Saturday and he was sentenced Monday.

Ohio's unemployment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The pre-Christmas economic boom helped lower Ohio's December unemployment rate three-tenths of one per cent, according to state Bureau of Employment Services' figures released Monday.

The December rate of 3.7 per cent placed 170,000 Ohioans on the unemployment list, compared with November's 4 per cent or 181,000.

Carroll site radioactive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission laboratory in Chicago is testing radioactive material found last week scattered around a Fair field County residence, a spokesman for the Ohio Civil Defense agency said today.

James R. Williams, radiological maintenance officer for the agency, said the lavel of radioactivity on the property near Carroll varied and his office had not determined the extent of danger, if any.

Sealed containers bearing a radiation warning were discovered, some of them open.

Williams identified the radioactive material as isotopes, used by doctors in diagonostic procedures. The material would have to be ingested into the body to be harmful and the chances of that are remote, he said.

The AEC laboratory was to determine the origin of the containers, as well as the contamination, Williams said. The AEC has a prescribed method of disposing of such radioactive material, he said.

Wilson role in Viet War disclosed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A newly released section of the Pentagon papers describes Britain's attempts to mediate a Vietnam war settlement as "sometimes embarrassing" to the United States by spotlighting apparent contradictions in President Lyndon B. Johnson's peace-seeking efforts.

The study says the United States brought Britain into the negotiating process in 1966-1967 only to help British Prime Minister Harold Wilson politically and because of the importance of British support for U.S. Vietnam policias.

Johnson's secret diplomatic efforts from 1965 to 1968 are described in four previously unreleased volumes of the Pentagon war study introduced as evidence in the trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo, charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft in connection with the leak of the study to news media.

The Pentagon documents were released to the press Monday.

"The eagerness of British leaders to participate with maxiumum visibility in bringing peace to Vietnam ... was sometimes embarrassing to the United States, which greatly preferred confidential dealings with a minimum of participants," the study said.

Britain was a go-between for peace feelers which were known by the code name "Sun flower." That diplomatic effort ended in early 1967 when Johnson resumed bombing of North Vietnam following a suspension during the Tet lunar new year.

Long-time Defiance County auditor dies

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Allen Elliot, long-time Defiance County official, died at a Hicksville hospital late Monday at the age of 76. He had been ill for a short time.

Elliot had served in the county auditor's office for the past 20 years, the last eight years as county auditor.

Sheriff seeks funds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The Hamilton County budget commission has been asked for a $1.4 million increase by new Sheriff Paul Fricker to hire 75 additional police and make improvements in the department.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Warm air began flowing into Ohio early today, nudging temperatures higher after overnight lows in single figures across parts of the state.

A massive high pressure area centered over the Gulf of Mexico, with its influence extending north into Canada, was responsible for the flow of warm, Gulf air into Ohio. The warming trend should increase as the high moves eastward.

Highs today were expected to reach from the upper 20s north to the mid 30s in the south. Wednesday's highs will range from the mid 30s into the 40s.

High cloudiness will begin to spread into western part of Ohio Wednesday ahead of a front spread across the Plains States today.

Fayette Countian held for burglary

Fayette County sheriff's deputies arrested a 28-year-old Fayette County man Monday afternoon on burglary charges stemming from the entry into two Circleville homes in December.

Larry Stanley, 28, Rt. 6, was arrested at his Flakes Ford Road home by Sgt. William Crooks and John Emrick. He was later released to the Circleville Police Department and is currently lodged in the Pickaway County jail under $100,000 bond.

Circleville police said Stanley and another man had entered two homes there a few days before Christmas and removed television sets, jewelery, clothing and other items of value. At least $700 in goods was removed from one of the homes, officers reported.

Stanley is on parole after serving time in prison for assault with intent to rob. Sheriff's deputies said he offered no resistance when arrested.

Ashville boy dies

ASHVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Thomas M. Hedges, 9, of Ashville, was killed late Monday when struck by a car after jumping from a feed grinder being pulled by a tractor operated by his father, Pickaway County Sheriff's deputies said.

Controlling board finally OKs libraries for prisons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It took three times, but the State Controlling Board finally approved an $86,739 expenditure for libraries at Ohio's penal institutions by a vote of 5-2.

Sen. Howard Cook, R-1 Toledo, and Rep. Fred Hadley, R-79, were the only desenting votes. The last time the board voted—late last year—it turned down the request 3-3.

The officials objecting said the money could be used in a more constructive fashion. However, correctional officials said the U.S. Law Enforcement Administration Agency had ordered the money spent on a library.

The board rejected payment of a $7,900 in attorney fees, despite a letter from the state attorney general's office that members of the board could be subject to contempt of court proceedings.

The fee was ordered paid by Judge Carl Rubin of the U.S. District Court in connection with a civil rights suit filed against the state during the Gov. James Rhodes administration.

Former Governor Rhodes and Alfred Gienow, former director of public works, were charged with failure to provide equal employment opportunities on public building and construction projects.

When Gov. John Gilligan took office he was forced to issue an executive order to halt discrimination in 1972.

When Rubin gave the ruling against the state, he ordered payment of the plaintiffs' counsel fees.

The board also:

—Approved spending $377,954 for educational television transmitters at Alliance-Salem, Lima-Bowling Green, Portsmouth and Cambridge.

—Authorized release of $66,430 to boost the staff of the consumer frauds section of the attorney general's office.

—Released $156,505 in operating funds for the Consumer Protection Division in the Department of Commerce.

—Released school foundation payments for January of $65.8 million and $368,525 as the state's share for the purchase of 90 new school buses.

—Approved spending $665,500 for relocating the state's downtown steam generating plant from the Ohio penitentiary building to atop the transportation building to service fice state buildings in downtown Columbus.

Stock list halts slide

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market scored an advance today after six straight sessions of declines, with trading moderately active. Many of the price changes were fractional.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.06 to 997.52 and on the New York Stock Exchange advancing issues had an advantage of about 7 to 5 over decliners.

"There has been a little too much bearishness around," commented Ronald Cooper of W. E. Hutton & Co., "with some people thinking the market's long decline would feed on itself. But all of the economic news is basically good—steel production up, auto sales up. The only questions now are whether the administration can contain inflation and keep a rein on interest rates."

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .01 to 25.87.

At noon the New York Stock Exchange index was .15 higher at 62.92.

Fatal blaze brings arrest

PLEASANTVILLE, N.J. (AP) — State Police have charged a young Baltimore man with arson in connection with a fire at a rest home that took the lives of 10 elderly residents.

Harry Kemp, 22, was arrested late Monday and is under guard at Somars Point Hospital for treatment of burns he suffered in the fire.

Kemp was one of six residents of Street's Rest Home who escaped the fire in the two-story, wood-frame building, along with two employes.

Four of the victims of the fire on Monday were women, one 106 years old. The other victims were in their 70s and 80s.

Deputy Fire Chief Walt S. Schlundt said an alarm system connected to the fire department failed to go off, but occupants of the home who fled safely said an internal alarm did sound.

Set hearing on Corona trial appeal

FAIRFIELD, Calik. (AP) — A juror who says she regrets voting for conviction of Juan Corona on mass murder charges and a matron accused of influencing the verdict have been ordered to testify on a defense motion for a new trial.

Juror Naomi Underwood and matron Georgia Wallis were directed Monday to appear before Judge Richard Patton on Feb. 5, the day Patton has set for sentencing the 38-year-old farm labor contractor on 25 counts of first-degree murder.

An estimated 500 Mexican-American picketed outside the courthouse during the brief hearing with signs saying, "Juan is innocent," "Free political prisoners," "Jury tampering is illegal" and "Hang on, Mrs. Underwood."

Corona, a Mexican citizen who worked in California as a farm labor contractor, was found guilty on Jan. 18 of slaying 25 itinerant farm workers whose bodies were found near Yuba City in 1971.

In statements both in and out of court on Monday, defense attorney Richard Hawk accused Mrs. Wallis of "jury tampering."

He cited a conversation Mrs. Underwood reported having with the matron while the jury was still considering its verdict after a trial of four months.

Drug king sentenced

NEW YORK (AP) — An Argentine national described by the federal government as "the biggest narcotics trafficker ever brought to justice in the United States" has been sentenced to 20 years in prison and fined $20,000.

Auguste Joseph Ricord was the kingpin of an international ring responsible for routing a ton of heroin into the United States annually, the government charged.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Walter Phillips placed a $600 million yearly price tag on the heroin sent from France through South America.

Ricord, 63, had been convicted of conspiracy to smuggle hundreds of pounds of narcotics. U.S. Dist. Court Judge John Cannella, who gave him the maximum sentence Monday, declared:

"This is not an addict who is being sentence or a pusher who made a few sales. This is a very large quantity of narcotics. The end product from the mortality and suffering probably would equal the recent figures for the Vietnam war casualties."

Columbus resident charged in murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Stanley Cline Humphrey, 27, of Columbus, charged with first degree murder in the shooting death of Sylvester Norris, 26, on Dec. 5. 7

Norriu was killed in the bathroom of his home.

Humphrey was arrested Monday afternoon while sitting in municipal court as a spectator. He was to be arraigned in the same courtroom today.

Riffe Ohio House mover, shaker

Ohio Perspective

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A. G. Lancione of Bellaire is speaker of the Democratic-dominated Ohio House this session, but a 47-year-old insurance man from another southern Ohio town makes it move.

He is Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr. of New Boston, the speaker pro-tem, Lancione's top assistant. The title is new, but the job isn't.

When Democrats were in the minority last year, Riffe sat in Lancione's office directing operations. The titles went to others, but Riffe was the man to see to get things done.

Riffe became a natural when Democrats took over the House. He agreed to take the trusted lieutenant's title as well as the job.

It's different, he admits.

"When we were in the minority we had a good excuse for not getting things done," he said. "We didn't have the votes.

"But we're in the majority now and there's a bit of difference. It's our job to see that things operate properly in the House. Being in the majority brings more responsibility.

"We can't sit down now and say, 'It's up to the majority to move this bill or that.' It's our responsibility now."

Responsibility is something that comes easy for Riffe, whose 72-year-old father served as mayor of New Boston, near Portsmouth, for 27 years. He was safety director for eight.

"I've got two roles in this job," said Riffe, "working with legislative personnel and carrying out the policies set by the administration and the speaker. Still most important, I must represent my constitutients. I can't forget them."

Riffe is beginning his seventh term in the House. When Democrats were in the minority, Riffe could still get things done.

"See Vern," was almost a password when a legislator's favorite bill would hit a partisan snage in committee. Riffe is considered a master at the political art of bringing about a compromise.

Riffe is a close friend as well as the top lieutenant to Lancione. They share a suit in a downtown hotel when the General Assembly is in session.

Riffe once nursed hopes of being Democratic house leader but discarded his plans two years ago when Lancione, a veteran of 26 years in the House, indicated he wanted the post. Riffe managed Lancione's campaign for what was then minority leader.

"He is one of the greatest men in the legislature," Riffe said of the speaker. "He is sincere and cooperative. I hope he is around for many, many years."

Man attempts to steal bank

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Banks have been run on, bombed and robbed.

Now, police say, someone has tried to steal one.

Police reported Sunday that Richard John Lee, 26, broke into a motor home used as a portable Bank of America branch, ransacked it and then tried to drive off with it.

Officers said Lee was unable to get the vehicle into gear and asked two men at a nearby service station for aid.

But the sight of the ransacked interior and the "Bank of America" painted on the vehicle "aroused their suspicion."

The men called police, who took Lee into custody.

Hates war; Ohio farmer to emigrate

TERESA C. PITTS
Associated Press Writer

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — At age 66, Robert Schroer is emigrating to Argentina because he hates the war in Vietnam.

Not even the prospect of an early cease-fire deters him.

"I decided last spring I couldn't take it any more," said the Licking County turkey farmer.

"I'm a farmer and I produce food. I felt as long as I stayed in this country I was part of what it was doing. I just didn't want the blood-guilt any more."

So, Schroer said he was selling his 180-acre farm and leaving the United States for good, "as soon as the sorghum harvest is in." That's about a month away.

Schroer, a fruit and turkey farmer in Licking County since 1937, picked Argentina as his haven because it was "the farthest place from war I could think of." Buenois Aires, the Argentine capital, is about 6,000 miles south of Ohio.

When the Vietnam war started, "we didn't talk about it much," he recalled, "but I knew what we were doing over there was murder. Just like Hitler murdering the Jews."

He hesitated. "But I guess we'll never really know how many we've killed over there."

For the past three years Schroer said he's been joining in protest demonstrations at nearby Denison University and taking out anti-war ads in the local newspaper.

"Some people didn't like me for it, but I'd been against the war so long by then, it didn't matter much."

One who opposed Schroer's views was one of his own sons, an navigator for Air Force B-52's making bombing raids over North Vietnam.

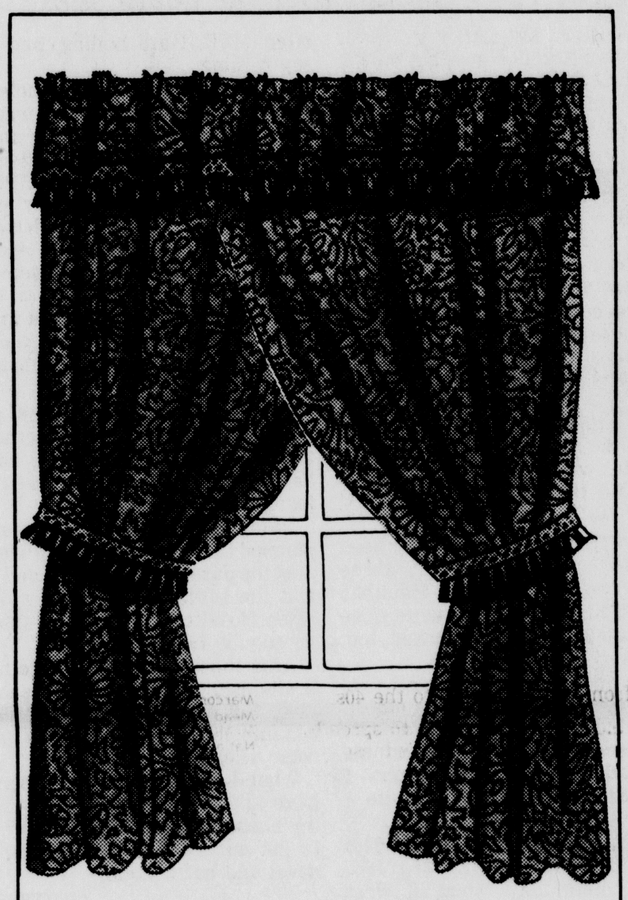

"We don't see eye to eye at all," admitted Schroer.

As for his other five children and his wife, "I expect they're in favor of what I'm doing and why I'm doing it," he said.

He said he expected his wife to join him in South America after disposing of the family business.

If Earth's total age, now estimated by geophysicists at about 4.5 billion years, is taken as a single 24-hour day, today's ocean basins are scarcely an hour old.

Opinion And Comment

'Peace' for now, at least?

With the signing of a ceasefire agreement for Vietnam at long last, the great question is: What does the truce accomplish? Only the least discerning of optimists could maintain that it puts finis to all conflict and assures not only a just and lasting peace but fair self-determination for the Vietnamese people. One must ask, then, to what extent the agreement falls short of achieving this ideal outcome.

The one major accomplishment of the truce is that it brings immediate peace to Vietnam. This is not something to be taken lightly, however "fragile" (to use President Nixon's characterization in talking to congressional leaders) that peace may be. How long the peace endures depends on a complex of interrelated factors, notably including the spirit in which all parties approach implementation of the agreement. For the time being there is peace, all the same, and that is not a small achievement after so many years of massive violence.

The agreement brings other marked benefits for the United States. It assures the return of the remaining American forces. It guarantees, within the same rather brief time span, the homecoming of American prisoners of war.

There is good reason to believe, too, that as these things happen and we find our nation again actually not involved in conflict, our national life will markedly improve. A great source of bitterness and uncertainty of purpose among Americans will have been salved, if not wholly removed. We will be able to focus our attention on some of the great domestic concerns which have been neglected because of the war.

What does the truce fail to accomplish? For one thing, there is hardly any solid guarantee of lasting peace, a view reflected in both President Nixon's and Henry Kissinger's statements. North Vietnamese troops, however inhibited by restrictions on supply, are to remain in the south. No indication has been given as to what, if any, reprisal would be made were the truce violated.

No guarantee exists that the ban on "infiltration" will be effective.

Furthermore, at key points in the settlement the remaining disputes are simply left up to the contending parties in Vietnam to "do their utmost" to solve.

The likelihood is that the "peace" might endure for some months, perhaps even for a year or two. But it would be naive to suppose that after more than 20 years of war Hanoi will abandon all effort to unite Vietnam under its rule. One source of hope lies in the promised conference in which the great powers will undertake to see that the peace works. If they recognize an act in concert on their common interest, a tolerable political settlement may in time be achieved.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

In death, devastation

PARIS — It is difficult to convey the state of shock in which I am living at this moment. In the morning I awoke, went to brealfast, and read of Lyndon B. Johnson's death. Later I stood among a cloud of witnesses as Henry Kissinger and Le Duc Tho smilingly announced that the cease-fire in Vietnam has been initialed. Then, in all candor, I wanted to go somewhere, hide, and cry. But there was no place to hide so I went to a meeting.

The symbolism of Lyndon Johnson's death on the eve of the Vietnamese settlement was devastating, particularly for those of us who knew the depth of his desire for peace. The former President was often ridiculed for his cornball sentimentality, and the anit-war movement did a good job of turning his image into that of a demon incarnate — a man who loved to throw power around, one who got a thrill out of the notion of demonstrating American machismo. Johnson was billed as a political John Wayne.

This was nonsense. President Johnson was, in fact, an extremely cautious man who — however riproaring his rhetoric may have been on occasions — never shot from the hip. God, how he hated that war, how he anguished over the casualty lists. Although in some ways an extraordinarily complicated man, he was not at the fundamental level complex. On the contrary, he was in the best sense of the word simple: he would talk to me for hours trying to understand WHY (even before Vietnam blew up) the intellectuals disliked him. "What do they want," he would ask, "speeches or civil rights acts?"

THE WHOLE Dallas demonology, which was the rage among the intelligentsia in 1966-67, left him utterly baffled. When one particularly poisonous article appeared, suggesting that in effect Lee Harvey Oswald was on the Johnson payroll, he handed me the magazine (he was a masochist who insisted on reading such tripe) and said, "What world do these people live in? Bobby was attorney general and he certainly made sure there was no conspiracy."

This was a rational response from a supremely rational political man. He could no more comprehend the bizzarre world view of the leftist intelligentsia than a man who is colorblind can appreciate Van Gogh. Yet he always tried: "Let us reason together" was the basis of his political philosophy in matters both foreign and domestic. He genuinely believed in consensus and as he watched the country bitterly dividing over Vietnam and civil rights he reached the conclusion that the fault was his. To an old ideologue like me there was something tragic about this yearning. I figure that if you have 51 per cent of the electorate behind you, you're in luck, but that was not Johnson's view of the role of the Presidency.

Lyndon Johnson wanted to unite the country. When he found it becoming bitter, he dicided it needed a different President, and that was that. A simple man looked at himself in the mirror one day and said, "This country needs new leadership," so he stepped down. A number of people think they dumped him, but I have a message for them: if Johnson hadn't come to terms with his conception of the Presidency, all of their bitter attacks wouldn't have been worth a damn. He quit on his own terms, not theirs.

IT IS CURRENTLY the intellectual fashion to heap blame on the Kennedy-Johnson era. (Indeed, one gets the impression that David Halberstam and Henry Fairlie consider Warren G. Harding as their ideal Chief Executive.) A keynote in this assault is that Johnson raised American expectations to an impossible level, thus inevitably generating a backlash of frustration.

There is some truth in this, but one can look at it from a different perspective and argue that Lyndon Johnson was a man who dared to dream. And while he will never be a folk hero in the Ivy League, one suspects that millions of poor Americans, of black Americans, of sick and elderly Americans will cherish the memory of a President who cared.

He was a strange, elemental figure, but when you penetrated the layers of his personality — got behind the masks — you discovered a simple man of singular intelligence who really wanted to do good. However future historians may evaluate his tenure, I am proud that in addition to being my boss, Lyndon Johnson was my friend.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Nixon endangers arms-control work

WASHINGTON — To return to this capital from even a brief absence is to feel like Rip Van Winkle confronting a world utterly changed. Questioning those who have lived through the Nixon upheaval is of little help.

Why has so much of the government been turned upside down? We don't know. Only the secretive man in the White House now entered on his second four-year term knows the answer. And. in a voice dropped to a whisper, we're not sure he knows.

The most dismaying change, in many ways the most mysterious, is the dismantling of the disarmament and arms-control apparatus. Inaugural rhetoric cannot conceal the damage done to the effort that for a decade has made increasing progress toward controlling, and to some degree scaling back, the vast mountain of nuclear armaments with the judgment of life and death over all mankind.

What makes this more mysterious is that one of the great achievements of the Nixon first term was the nuclear arms agreement, culminating in the President's mission to Moscow. With a limit on defensive missiles and a five-year agreement to restrain further building of offensive weapons, it was a small beginning hailed around the world.

A DEDICATED public servant, Gerard C. Smith, with 20 years experience in the nuclear jungle, worked tirelessly for four years as chief American negotiator in the SALT talks at Vienna and Helsinki. When he went back at the start of SALT II he was without any clear and finally arrived at position approved by the White House. On returning from Geneva, the new site of the talks, Smith resigned.

In is place the President appointed U. Alexis Johnson, undersecretary of state for political affairs. Johnson is a career diplomat with no experience in nuclear matters. Grieviously overworked, suffering from ill health, he is within a year of retirement age. The private word is that his will be a temporary appointment.

But this can mean that the momentum growing out of the modest success of last year will be lost. It can also mean that the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who have reluctantly gone along with arms limitation, will have the dominant voice. Arms-Control specialists with long knowledge of the tortuous process of arriving at agreement with the Soviet Union are dismayed by the Johnson appointment. They say that he has been in the lap of the JCs for 10 years.

A further handicap is that Johnson will not be head, as with Smith, of the Arms-Control and Disarmament Agency. The semi-autonomous agency created in 1961 has played an important part in developing programs and conducting research on the techniques of control and the vertification of limitation agreements. A recent agency study showed that, in 120 countries surveyed, $207 billion was spent for military purposes as against only $168 billion for education and $80 billion for health care.

THE ARMS-CONTROL agency now seems in process of being dismantled. A budget slash of 30 per cent will cut the agency back to $6.7 million. Division heads, all with long experience in disarmament, were asked to submit their resignations. They have thus far had no response. Happening throughout government, this is a sure-fire prescription for demoralization.

Members of the General Advisory Commission on Disarmament were also asked to submit their resignations. The commission includes distinguished men concerned over the years with the growing nuclear burden, one of them being William C. Foster, who for seven years was head of the arms-control agency. Chairman of the commission is John J. McCloy, a Republican with long-time credentials in public life. McCloy has been trying in vain for several weeks to see the President and present the commission's view.

The President has made plain his intention of paring down one domestic program after another — education, poverty, welfare. But these cheese parings will not bring the budget into balance. The only real economies can come out of defense, with a total somewhere above $80 billion, including all the costly new toys for the three services.

The only way out is verifiable agreement with the Soviet Union to scale back this appalling burden.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

In this, the second of our communications to the people, we will discuss briefly the subject of federal revenue sharing.

On Jan. 1, 1972, there became effective a law which directed that approximately 30.1 billion in federal funds be distributed, over a five-year period, to the states, counties, townships and municipalities.

This money comes directly to the subdivision in the form of a check drawn on the U. S. Treasury. The amount a subdivision receives is based on the following formula: Population multiplied by tax effort and this product divided by the per capita average annual income.

What does this amount to? Well, as far as the county is concerned, about $128,000 for the year 1972. Budget-wise, this is a significant amount and serves to greatly "ease" several parts of the budget which, otherwise, would be quite "tight."

The townships receive their checks, course, in varying amounts ranging (for the five on which we have information on) from approximately $2,300 to $4,600 per year.

What can this money be used for? The law states it cannot be used for (1) matching funds to obtain federal grants, (2) general administration, (3) education. It can be used for (1) ordinary and necessary maintenance and operating expenses such as environmental protection, public transportation, public safety and several other items and (2) ordinary and necessary capital expenditures authorized by law.

Since this appears to be a sincere effort on the part of our federal government, your Board of County Commissioners feels these funds should be dispensed as wisely and prudently as possible. We feel it is, at least, a step in the right direction.

Finally, let us make a rather important point. On your Tax Form 1040 near the bottom of the page is a space for your revenue sharing district. This involves your township and possibly the township code number. These numbers are as follows: Concord 1, Green 2, Jasper 3, Jefferson 4, Madison 5, Marion 6, Paint 7, Perry 8, Union 9, Wayne 10. From the standpoint of disbursement of revenue sharing funds, the correct listing of this information is important.

Board of County Commissioners, Fayette Co.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

The rules change after the game ends

DEAR ABBY: My father in law is basically a pretty nice guy, but he is a real football freak.

My wife likes to spend Sunday with her parents, so we go, and of course the TV is always going full blast with some football game because her father is crazy about football.

My father in law (I'll call him "Coach") begs me to bet, and just to please him, I do. I always end up with the winning team, but I lose money because he comes up with all kinds of funny "house rules" such as press bets, side bets, etc. Meanwhile, he sits there with a Cleveland Browns coaching hat

KEN IN WOOSTER

DEAR KEN: Keep the bets small and let the old gaffer have fun. Meanwhile, when you've learned his game, raise the ante and then YOU have fun, too!

DEAR ABBY: Paul and I have been married for 27 years. We have three children. Two are in college. Paul has worked all his life and we have done well financially because I worked, too, and we saved our money.

Paul came from a large family (10 children) of which he was the oldest. His father died shortly after we were married, so Paul helped support his mother and the younger children. I never objected, though it was quite a strain on us for many years.

When Paul's mother remarried two years ago, I breathed a sigh of relief. Well, the other day when I went through Paul's pockets before sending his suit to the cleaners, I came across two letters from his mother, addressed to him at the office!

Since no one was around, I decided to see what was up. I found out she had asked him for some money and he had sent it. I don't know how much or how often. Well, I am boiling, and I can't say a thing.

I am fed up with this whole mess, especially this business of writing to Paul at work to ask him for money.

How do I handle this situation? I am not a snoop, but SEALED LIPS.

DEAR SEALED: You say you are not a "snoop," yet you read letters that were not intended for your eyes. You can either keep your lips sealed and pretend to know nothing, or confess that you read the letters and ask Paul for an accounting. I think you'd feel better if you confessed and cleared the air.

DEAR ABBY: My son is getting married soon. The bride's mother does not like my son because he has long hair and a beard and he refuses to cut it for the wedding.

In order to punish my son, she has planned the following type of wedding: Just the parents of the bride and groom and the brothers and sisters on both sides. No other relatives and absolutely no outside friends.

After the wedding there is going to be a sit-down dinner. No music or dancing. Not even a small reception. She has informed me that SHE is going to wear a long dress.

What I want to know is this: Do I have to wear a long dress? And does my husband have to rent a tux? I hate to put out all that money just to sit down and eat a meal.

WEST TEXAS

DEAR WEST: Wear whatever you want, and tell your husband to do the same. (P.S. Perhaps SHE'S wearing a long dress to conceal the broom she uses for transportation.)

Time for double talk drill

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) How can you wil'a reputation for common sense when you never mean anything you say?

That's easy—by using double talk.

Double talk is the saying of one thing when you are thinking just the opposite. It is the most widespread language on earth, for everyone alive employs it more often than he does any other form of communication.

Here are some examples of double talk from daily life. The quoted line is what the speaker said. The unquoted line that follows is what he actually was thinking.

"Yes, I see the one you mean. Do you really think he's all that attractive?"-Just because you saw him first doesn't mean that he's yours.

"Of course, I'll be glad to marry you, darling, but first you'll have to win my father's permission."-That shouldn't be too hard. Papa would be glad to see me elope with a orangutan.

"Pardon me, Don't tell me that I stepped on both your feet."Maybe that'll teach you to keep them out of the aisle, you clod!

"I would enjoy going on walking like this for miles and miles except that I seem to have gotten something in my shot."Grab us a cab, stupid. Can't you see I've had enough fresh air to last me a lifetime.

We all feel the same way about it, Frank. The old office won't be same without you." It'll be better.

"I'm glad you're feeling so good tonight, Jake. You really were the life of the party last time." Oh, God, thee goes the rest of the furniture!

"No, I won't be bored at all. I enjoy playing any kind of game with you."-Why don't we throw the cards away and just play house?

"Yes, my husband does have some kind of title in his firm, but I never can remember just what it is."After 25 years, I can't tell people he's still just a junior executive.

"Now Madge, your house isn't really mussed. It's always so neat and clean, you'd think you could eat off the floor."-And maybe you just have. It does look like a pigsty today.

Clipped comment

Judge Sirica on the Watergate break-in: "Any decent American . . . deplores this kind of conduct." But some evidently deplore it more than others.

There are lots of hints these days about how to stretch the food budget. One of the best ones we've seen is: Don't stretch your wasitline.

Fear of foreign entanglements rises, but a $6.4 billion trade deficit suggests it doesn't extend to entanglement with foreign wine, cars and whatnot.

Wyoming's ratification of the equal rights amendment makes it 23 down and 15 to go. Guess which 15 will be the hardest.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 31

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Some recently puzzling situations and trends begin to clarify. However, there may be new situations you do not anticipate, but you must accept them.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

With your keenness for detecting flaws and your good humor, you can solve practically all of the "little" quandaries waiting to trip the unthinking.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Some information you have needed in a financial matter can now be obtained — possibly through the aid of a business associate. Evening hours promise to be stimulating, socially.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Steering your own course will be quite enough without becoming involved in another person's. But don't fear problems; just face situations intelligently.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Use the techniques which have proved potent in the past, but also be ready to consider new angles, methods, etc. Couple resoluteness with a certain amount of flexibility.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Enthuse! This may be THE factor needed to keep day out of a rut, free from aggravations. Day also requires understanding of others' needs.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Important now: Common sense, logical analysis, calm interrogation. Regular business and work matters highly favored. Don't waste time worrying over the past.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Planetary influences encourage both long-pending projects and new ventures. Your intuition and foresight should be keen now.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Tangible gains indicated if your pursue work and handle obligations without unnecessary interruptions. Stress consistency.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

If you get a late start, pitch in sturdily and, with the right momentum, you will soon catch up. With painstaking effort and vigor, you can have a rewarding day.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Uranus' auspicious aspect favors partnerships, promises cooperation in putting over new projects or advanced methods. Don't procrastinate.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A splendid configuration of your planets encourages your fine talents and know-how. This is a day in which to give your finest performance, to stress good management.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely outgoing individual, progressive in your ideas and methods and truly brilliant in your ingenuity. Your enthusiasm for life is boundless and in your swing along to high goals, you often carry many others along with you. Your methods may seem erratic to others at times, but you always know what you are doing and where you are going — and you get there. In business you can be extremely aggressive, but you are usually artistic (and quieter) in your outside interests. Best outlets for your talents: Music, journalism, short-story writing, the stage, politics.

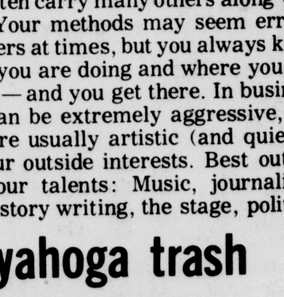

Cuyahoga trash problem grows

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The waste disposal problem in Cuyahoga County is no longer one of just finding landfill sites, according to a city-county task force study on waste.

The problem has also become one of too much trash, the study noted.

The area generates nearly, 3,200 tons of trash each day, and although the study's immediate solution was to call for a $22 million system of landfills to handle the problem, the study also urged increased interest in reducing the amount of trash.

Switch your Savings to

DEPOSIT ANY AMOUNT
ANYTIME --- EARN 5%

You get more than a raise
When you save at The Savings Bank

If you are earning less than 5% interest-plus, you don't need to wait until you've saved some "round figure" like $500, $1000 or more to start earning that bank-safe 5% interest at The Savings Bank. Your opening deposit may be any amount you wish. You're not restricted on additions either. Add as much as you can, whenever you can and you'll still earn 5% from day of deposit.

Savings Bank savings is the investment for people who like good earnings but don't like risk.

There are no quick overnight profits, no equally sudden losses. You know your money is growing every day, that it's yours and you can have it returned, dollar for dollar plus interest added. The Savings Bank guarantees it and the account of each depositor is insured to $20,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Automatic Savings makes adding money to your account easier and just about fool-proof.

When you check and save at The Savings Bank you can tell us how much to transfer from your checking account to savings each week or month. We do it for you automatically and at no charge. It does make your savings grow much faster.

Draw this excellent interest as long as you wish, you'll still have every dollar of your beginning deposit. If you have a change of plans you can withdraw part or all of your 5% interest-plus funds at any quarterly withdrawal period and never lose a penny of your interest.

You can even Save by Mail at The Savings Bank if this is more convenient for you.

Marriage vows exchanged in Derby Methodist Church

Miss Geraldine Rader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Rader, of Derby, became the bride of Pfc. George W. Hatfield Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hatfield, 421 S. Fayette St., in the Derby United Methodist Church. The Rev. Kenneth Chapin performed the double ring candlelight ceremony Dec. 23, before two seven - branched candelabra and baskets of pink and yellow carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Rader wore a formal length satin gown of white with long full bishop sleeves. Her shoulder length veil was caught to pink petals and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations with matching streamers.

The groom wore his Marine dress uniform.

Mrs. Lester Howard was matron of honor for her sister and Mrs. Barbara Chamberlain was bridesmatron. They wore floor length gowns of yellow and pink with long full sleeves and gathered skirts. They carried arrangements of pink and yellow carnations.

Nicholas O'Dearno served as best man and Lester Howard seated the guests. Junior attendants were the groom's brother, Gary Hatfield, and the bride's sister, Joan Rader.

Mrs. Rader chose for her daughter's wedding a pink double knit dress with black accessories. The groom's mother wore a formal length ensemble of blue skirt with ruffled blouse and black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink carnations.

Hostesses for the reception which followed in the church social room were Mrs. Norma J. Chamberlain, Mrs. Phyllis Weaver and Mrs. Diana Riley, the groom's sister.

The bride's table, covered with a pink cloth with white lace overcover, held a two-tiered wedding cake topped with a bridal couple. Punch was served with the cake and mints and nuts.

The new Mrs. Hatfield attended Westfall High School and the groom Washington Senior High School. He has returned to Okinawa where he is stationed with the U. S. Marines until July.

Out-of-town wedding guests came from Columbus, Jeffersonville and Washington C. H.

Musicale group presents recital

The Sunday afternoon musicale group met at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Robert E. Willis, for an hour of good listening.

Janice Ragland and Susan Wilson conducted a question and answer period on composers, pictures and important musicians.

Piano numbers were by Pamela and Jennifer Cox, Kathy Ginn, Nancy Marchant, Debbie Coulter and John Huffman.

A group of songs was sung by Janice Ragland with Diane Sagar at the piano.

Susan Willis received the guests.

AFS student is scheduled

Bundit Kanyavongha, of Thailand, will be guest speaker Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in First Baptist Church.

This meeting is planned by Women's Missionary Society with Ann Judson Circle in charge of devotions and Jenny Adams Circle serving as hostess. This is an open meeting to which all are invited.

Bundit's home is with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nestor and family while he attends Washington Senior High School this year. He is a Buddhist. His mother is a school teacher, a brother is a teacher; he has an older sister in nurses' training and three younger ones at home. His father is deceased.

He is 19 years old, and he is the 14th AFS exchange student in Washington C. H., the second Thai student. Textbooks in Thailand are in English, and he has a better command of the language than some foreign students. He is good at drawing and water color painting.

Bundit is sponsored by American Field Service which was started by volunteer ambulance drivers in the first World War because they believed that, with better understanding between people, there would be less war. They helped start bringing students here and to other countries. People are so reluctant in other countries to keep American students because Americans have so much more than they can give them.

MISS CHRISTINE PANNER

Late summer wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. Oran W. Panner, of 408 Fifth Ave., Patterson Heights, Beaver Falls, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, Christine, to Dennis F. Wolford, son of Rev. and Mrs. Ralph F. Wolford, 922 Leesburg Ave.

Miss Panner is a senior majoring in music education at Wittenberg University, Springfield. Her fiance, a sociology major at Ohio State University, will be graduated in June. He will enter law school in the fall.

A late summer wedding is being planned.

Tie-ups

ADD A DASH of razzle dazzle to a low-cut blouse and tie one on. The style to tie is Echo's new two-tone pussycat bow, a nifty neckline accessory.

YOU CAN do countless things with a scarf. One of the easiest is to make a man's tie. Use a giant 31-inch square. Fold on the bias, then tie, man style, as pictured at right.

THE ARTIST'S BOW, made with a bias oblong is one of the snappiest and newest looks in neckwear this year.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

IT'S JUST around now that the winter doldrums strike. Everything, including milady's wardrobe, seems drab and dreary. What to do about it? Spark winter's wardrobe with nifty accessories. They can make presto changes in the way your dark woolens and polyesters look, giving them a needed lift.

You can work magic changes with jewelry. The new ivory pendants on gold chains are eye-catchers, so are the many jade pieces that have come along on the heels of America's political interest in China. The nice thing about both ivory and jade: They look as well with spring and summer clothes as they do with winter wardrobes. They are true season spanners.

Another quick way to add color to dresses and especially to shirts, pullons and turtlenecks is to tie on a scarf. Echo has a whole collection of them — long rectangles, zippy squares plus some special scarfs that are just the ticket for those of you who aren't handy when it comes to scarfery.

There's an artist's bow, for example, made with a bias oblong that's one of the snappiest and newest looks in neckwear, a great finishing touch with the layered look. A two-tone pussycat bow is another cutey, one that's easily tied in place.

For those who have a 31-inch square. Echo suggests this trick: Fold it on the bias, and tie it just like a man's tie. Worn this way, a scarf looks exactly right as a fill-in with a man-tailored shirt and vest combination.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Next April, an independent television news agency hopes to begin servicing stations in the U.S. with a daily hour of news — without an anchorman and without commercials.

Heresy? Not really. The service is being offered as a supplement to local TV news operations, providing filmed news and sports reports the stations can include in their own newscasts.

The agency is TVN, Inc., temporarily based here and so new — it was incorporated Jan. 11 — that its executives haven't yet decided where to set up their permanent corporate headquarters. They say it will probably be located in New York.

They plan to set up fully staffed news bureaus here and in Washington, D.C., Chicago and Los Angeles to start with, and may establish other domestic bureaus if things go well.

The company will collect and send out their reports by leased lines for taping by client stations. The major networks feed their regular evening news broadcasts to stations the same way.

TVN officials say the company will offer international as well as national news, getting its overseas film stories from Visnews, Inc., a London-based TV news cooperative.

Visnews, which owns a small percentage of TVN, is a nonprofit trust owned jointly by the British Broadcasting Corp., Reuters, the Australian Broadcasting Corp. and the New Zealand Broadcasting Corp.

Starting a full-scale news operation from scratch won't come cheaply. It'll cost about $4 million, according to TVN's president, John O. Gilbert, a veteran broadcasting industry executive.

He says TVN's news crews in the U.S. initially will number about 60, including cameramen and technicians.

He declined for competitive reasons to say how many stations — independent and network-affiliated — have shown an interest in TVN's proposed operation.

He emphasizes that the operation isn't competing with the news programs offered by the ABC, NBC and CBS television networks, which now have a total of 584 affiliated stations.

"However, we do feel that we can be a great supplemental service for the stations," said Gilbert, a former ABC vice president for affiliate relations. "That's our basic thrust — as a supplemental service for local newscasts."

Pope sees need for war repairs

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI says that "As world citizens, we cannot be indifferent to Vietnam after the war."

The pontiff, in his Sunday noon blessing to about 4,000 persons in St. Peter's Square, said the necessity now is to "repair the ruins and overcome the needs" of the people. He called for "spontaneous initiatives to aid Vietnam.

Pope Paul made no direct reference to the signing of the cease-fire agreement in Paris Saturday.

He added that only the facts would show if "this is a true peace."

BROWNIE TROOP 214

Brownie Troop 214 of Jeffersonville, met in the cafeteria at the school, and held an Investiture Ceremony. The new girls received their pins and were welcomed into the troop by last year's members, who were given their one-year pins.

The girls were led in the Brownie Promise and Pledge of Allegiance by Julia Cole; dues were collected by Tina McBee and were led in songs by Mrs. David Taylor.

Cookies and punch were served following the Investiture.

Mothers present were Mrs. Malene Axline, Mrs. Charolette Johnson, Mrs. Paula Cole, Mrs. Marci Hall, Mrs. Charolette Landenburg, Mrs. Francis Miramontez, Mrs. Imogene Smith, and leaders Mrs. Tom Funk Jr. and Mrs. David Taylor.

Girls present for the occasion were Christian and Elizabeth Miramontez, Carla and Pam Landenburg, Lori Funk, Tina McBee, Jeanie and Karen Williams, Wanda Hall, Theresa Axline, Terri and Julia Cole, Vicki Hanna, Brenda and Tammy Johnson, Toyia Smith, Becky Payton, Lisa and Susan Taylor. Others present were Kathy Miramontez, Terina Smith and Jimmy Smith.

TA WA KI CAMP FIRE

Amy Boyer called the meeting of the Ta Wa Ki Camp Fire Girls to order Saturday in the absence of the president. Jana Hanawalt led the Pledge of Allegiance and Shannon Evans led the Camp Fire Law. Roll was called by Becky Annon and dues were collected by Nancy Binzel, treasurer.

We practiced for the first ceremonial, which will be Feb. 3. We will receive our honor beads and the patches for Kroger labels and TV stamps.

Miss Sandy Fackler gave us a list of coming events. We will sell balloons for the Heart Fund on Feb. 10 in the uptown area. Feb. 17, we will have our pictures taken for The Record-Herald for Birthday Week in March. We are to wear our uniforms and white gloves.

We discussed the Potlatch and what we might use for decorations. Several members are to bring placemat ideas for the next meeting.

Shannon Evans served refreshments to Kristi Upthegrove, Gladys McClendon, Crystal Bell, Becky Annon, Jana Hanawalt, Nancy Binzel, Amy Boyer, Nancy Marchant, of the Ta Wan Ka CF Girls and Miss Sandy Fackler, guardian.

What do government deficits mean . . . Are they a real threat?

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "The greatest threat to our new prosperity is excessive government spending," said President Nixon in a brief radio address before presenting Congress a $268.7 billion budget, the biggest ever.

The President spoke those words against a backdrop of steadily rising federal expenditures, budget deficits in every year but one in the past 14, and a rising national debt now approximating $440 billion.

The projected $12 billion deficit for fiscal 1974, to begin at mid-year, follows these other deficits since 1965 (in billions):

1965 $1.60
1966 $3.80
1967 8.70
1968 25.16
1969 surplus
1970 2.85
1971 23.03
1972 23.02
1973(est) 20.00-25.00

What is the meaning of these deficits? And how long can they continue?

Economists quickly dismiss as meaningless the fears that many people have over the size of budgets. The country is bigger each year, they say, so why shouldn't the budget also be larger?

Relative to the economy, federal spending hasn't been growing sharply, despite many opinions to the contrary. For more than 20 years it has remained close to 20 per cent of the gross national product.

The excessive spending referred to by the President relates to deficits. And while most economists show concern about them, there is surprisingly little fear.

"Economists of both liberal and conservative sides are not nearly as alarmed as the layman," said Walter Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

"We must avoid the assumption that red ink is akin to fiscal sin," said Paul McCracken, who held the same title under Nixon.

However, he added: "We must avoid the opposite mistake, of trying to dismiss it as if only the hair shirts, those who haven't cottoned to modern wisdom, should worry about it."

In interviews with many economists, the most feared consequence of deficits appears to be inflation, even though some cautioned that the relationship is probably not as direct as might appear.

These are the inflation rates for recent years, as measured by the Consumer Price Index:

1965 1.7
1966 2.9
1967 2.9
1968 4.2
1969 5.4
1970 5.9
1971 4.3
1972 3.4

The consequences of an unacceptable level of inflation — acceptable is somewhere around 2 per cent — were demonstrated in almost clinical fashion in recent years as the nation sought to finance a war abroad and social programs at home.

— Viewing the big government deficits, and noting that inflation was rising, many foreign money men lost their long held faith in the dollar. They sold out for other currencies and for gold when they could get it.

There was some justification for their fears. U.S. goods were losing their competitive edge; overpriced because of inflation, they lost some of their share in markets abroad.

— As a result, the balance of trade, which with government spending abroad makes up the payments balance, went into the red for the first time this century. The United States was importing more than it exported.

— This set the stage for the nation's first devaluation. — And, in an effort to cut inflation and restore stability, governmental restraints led to a recession, accompanied by rising unemployment.

But inflation is not an inevitable consequence of budget deficits. If an economy is operating at less than its capacity, it can tolerate — even benefit from the stimulus of — deficit spending.

The most popular way of expressing the concept is through an explanation of the full employment budget concept, to wit:

A budget deficit isn't inflationary if it is less than or equal to receipts that would have been produced if the economy were operating at its full potential, this is, with optimum employment (4 to 4.5 per cent unemployment).

Nixon supporters thus defend the projected $12 billion deficit as non-inflationary.

The 1968 deficit of $25.16 billion, however, came at a time when the nation was operating at its maximum capacity. Plants and equipment were fully utilized. And unemployment was around 3.5 per cent.

These are the jobless figures since 1965:

1965 4.5
1966 3.8
1967 3.8
1968 3.6
1969 3.5
1970 4.9
1971 5.9
1972 5.6

And what about the big federal debt? Is is harmful?

"It's a problem," said Heller. "You've got to service the debt and obtain the taxes to pay for it. But it's not a problem we should be losing any sleep over."

It gives many people nightmares, however. "How are we ever going to pay for it?" they ask.

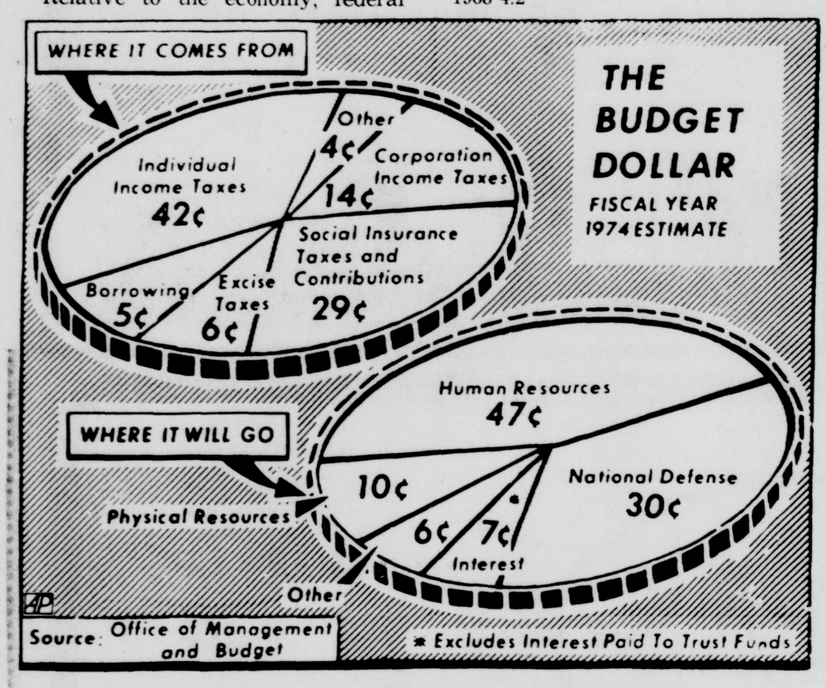

To which Heller responds: "The government never has to pay off the debt, any more than industry or homeowners as a group have to pay off theirs. As an individual you must pay the mortgage. But collectively, all mortgages don't have to be paid."

Cautioned Heller: "You cannot extrapolate what happens to you as an individual, because it is not happening to the group." Man the individual dies, he explained, but man collectively goes on. So does government. "The totals will always go up."

It might shock some people, Heller suggested, to realize that every type of debt — installment, homeowner, industrial and the like — is rising at faster rate than the federal debt.

One of the dangers in deficits and debt is that, if uncontrolled, they can impose themselves on the economy so strongly that they cannot be financed through regular lending facilities, McCracken explained.

But that debt, when it can be handled, is among the solid assets of many financial institutions. They hold government paper, collect interest on it, help refinance it and, in summary, consider it good as gold.

CUTTING THE BUDGET DOLLAR — Numbered allotments indicate how the proposed 1974 fiscal budget will be sliced in terms of individual dollars representing funds and expenditures.

Heath, Nixon plan talks on Mideast

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath leaves for Washington today with a proposal for President Nixon for a new peacemaking approach in the Middle East.

Qualified British sources said Heath wants Nixon to put pressure on Israel to come to terms swiftly while European governments do the same with the Arabs.

Heath and Nixon begin their two-day conference in the White House Thursday. It will be the President's first encounter with the head of a foreign government since his inauguration. It will be Heath's first meeting with the President since Britain joined the commom market Jan. 1. On Friday, they continue their discussions at Camp David, Md.

While the leaders range over policy, the more detailed intricacies of foreign affairs will occupy Britain's foreign secretary, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, and Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The talks will include Soviet and Chinese intentions, international trade and reforms to the world money system.

Among other topics due to come up in the British-American exchanges:

— A redefinition of the shared intersts and common aims of the Western powers despite their periodic clashes in economic and political sectors.

— Analyses of the trends and motives in the policies of such countries as the Soviet Union, China and India.

— Security situations in Europe, in the Middle East, the Indian Ocean and the Far East in the post-Vietnam era.

— Tactics to be adopted by the North Atlantic allies in coming negotiations on European security and force cut in Europe.

— The implications for the lesser nuclear powers — Britain and France — in the strategic arms limitation talks between the United States and Russia. This could vitally affect Heath's pet project — a pooling of British and French nuclear arms sources.

Treatment of Air Force returnees to be individual

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Treatment of Vietnam POWs returning to the United States will be a highly individual process, according to Lt. Col. Nick Apple, public affairs officer at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Wright-Patterson is one of 31 military installations that will have reorientation programs for returning American POWs. The Ohio air force base will receive men whose hometowns are in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Apple said that how much time a man spends at the base and the extent of his treatment all depends on the individual's response and that care will be tailor made to meet the individual's needs.

It is likely that those men who spent the longest time in prison camps will require more extensive and lengthier care, according to Apple. Each man's stay at the base will depend upon how quickly he adjusts to American society, he added.

Upon arrival at the base the men will be given medical checkups, intelligence debriefings and will be reunited with their families.

Private family reunions will be held and housing will be provided for the men's families.

Once the returnee and his doctor feel that the man is physically and mentally ready, each man will have the freedom of the hospital, base and the community while being debriefed.

He will not have to live in the hospital and will have the choice of other base or private housing while the re-entry process goes on. Military duties will be suspended for a while during the process.

Hard freeze hits south after snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A hard freeze stung wide areas of the Deep South today in the wake of a winter storm that dumped more than a foot of snow into the central and northern Appalachians.

Cold-wave warnings were in effect from Georgia to North Carolina and for eastern New York and Vermont. High winds on land and gale-force winds off the southern New England coast were predicted as the storm that hit much of the East Monday swirled into southeastern Canada.

Temperatures skidded into the low 20s as far south as central Georgia long before daybreak.

A few snow flurries lingered over the northern Mississippi Valley and the Appalachians.

In the West, a cold front pushing through the Great Basin scattered rain over the northern Pacific Coast and rain and some snow over northern California.

U.S. forces in Thailand to be cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of American airmen and planes based in Thailand will be reduced in proportion to the progress made in securing an effective Indochina-wide cease-fire according to the Thai ambassador to the United States.

An understanding between the United States and Thailand, where some 40,000 Americans are based, was spelled out by Ambassador Anand Panyarachun in an interview.

He said the Thai government has agreed to continue permitting the United States to use bases in Thailand for the time being. But the number will be reduced in proportion to the degree of fighting, the envoy said.

"If there is real peace in Laos and Cambodia as well as Vietnam and the possibility of it continuing, there is no use to invoke the use of the bases in Thailand," he said.

American officials confirmed the understanding.

The fighting in Laos is the greatest concern of Thailand since Communist guerrillas from Laos have infiltrated into the northeast section of Thailand.

Anand said he is confident that the guerilla problem can be contained in Thailand if outside powers — China and North Vietnam — stop supporting the guerrillas.

113 traffic cases before court

One of the heaviest traffic dockets in recent memory was before Municipal Court Monday. Acting Judge John Bryan was on the bench.

Forfeitures alone totaled $3,065 with fines adding another $585 to the total.

Acting Judge Bryan took action in 113 cases, most of them Highway Patrol speeding cases, and continued several others to later court dates. The upsurge in the number of Highway Patrol cases stems from the effective use of the new "moving radar."

Of the cases before the court, 102 were filed by the Highway Patrol, most of them speeding charges. Many local motorists are now beginning to fell the "pinch" of the new radar, which can detect speeders either approaching or moving away from the cruiser.

Washington C. H. police and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department are also using the new type radar.

Cases called were:

Pro grid teams open pre-draft juggling

NEW YORK (AP) — The trading block got warmed up as teams juggled choice players for player choices on the eve of the National Football League's annual crystal-ball gazing, the collegiate draft.

But the Houston Oilers, whose horrendous 1-13 record in the 1972 season brought them today's top pick, were having the same luck with the rest of the 26 teams of the field as they'd had on it. Despite all efforts to trade away their No. 1 selection for some proven veterans, they couldn't find a taker for it.

They did give up a third round choice and guard Tom Regner to Baltimore Monday in exchange for center Bill Curry.

The Colts were busiest in the swap meet that always precedes the draft. They sent defensive lineman Billy Newsome and a fourth-round choice to New Orleans for the Saints' No. 1 pick—the one right behind the Oilers. And the Colts also picked up "undisclosed draft choices" from Philadelphia in exchange for running back Norm Bulaich.

Then the Saints turned around and picked up second and third-round picks from the New York Jets in trade for jefensive end Richard Neal and cornerback Delles Howell.

Saddled, as it were, with the decision on which player to go for among the 442 prospects, the question was whether the Oilers would go for quarterback Bert Jones or bypass the superb strong-arm from Louisiana State in favor of one of the behemoths known as defensive linemen.

"It's hard to just let a great quarterback lay out there and not take him," Houston Coach Bill Peterson said—but it's more likely the Oilers will stick with Dan Pastorini and Lynn Dickey and choose instead from either mammoth Dave Butz, Purdue's 6-foot-7, 290-pounder, or 275-pound John Matuszak of Tampa to anchor the defensive line.

There are also plenty of offensive brutes to pick from in this "Year of the Lineman," among them Texas' Jerry Sisemore, Alabama's John Hannah and Michigan's Paul Seymour. But Jones is hardly the only standout quarterback. Florida State's Gary Huff, Oregon's Dan Fouts and Virginia Tech's Don Strock are likely to be grabbed before the first of the two days' drafting is over.

Thanks to the wholesale trading that can send players and picks swirling around tha league like confetti, seven teams will have two first-round picks and seven others have none.

The Super Bowl champion Dolphins won't make their first pick until the 52nd name comes up while the Redskins, who built their championship team on Coach George Allen's "the future is now" philosophy, must wait until choice No. 129—way back in the fifth round—before dipping into the collegiate pool.

UCLA remains firmly atop cage ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA's record-breaking Bruins are a unanimous choice again as No.1 in The Associated Press' college basketball poll.

The California powerhouse set an all-time record winning streak with 61 last week with victories over Loyola of Chicago and Notre Dame.

As a result, the front-running Bruins, 16-0, received all 33 first-place votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters for a total of 660 points. The Bruins had garnered all but one first-place in the two previous polls.

North Carolina State, 14-0, remained in second place, 68 points behind the high-flying Bruins. The undefeated Wolfpack clobbered Furman 98-73 last week for their 14th victory this year. North Carolina State had gotten one firstplace vote in each of the two previous polls.

Maryland moved up a place to third with 471 points after defeating North Carolina, last week's No. 3 team. While the Terps, 14-1, moved from fourth to third, North Carolina, 15-3, dropped to No. 8.

The rest of this week's Top Ten includes: No. 4 Long Beach State, 16-1; No. 5 Indiana, 13-2; No. 6 Alabama, 13-1; No. 7 Missouri, 14-2; No. 9 Minnesota, 12-2, and No. 10 Marquette, 14-2.

Few changes seen in AP Ohio prep cage ratings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Cleveland East Tech, Waverly and Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South kept their No. 1 spots as The Associated Press Ohio high school basketball ratings underwent few changes this week.

Cleveland East Tech retained its class AAA lead in another close duel with persistent second-place Canton Lehman. The Scarabs, 13-2, were just two points in front of Lehman 191-189.

Waverly opened up the biggest lead in the three divisions, chalking up 188 points for the Class AA top spot over new runnerup Willard's 144 points.

Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South, a defending state tournament champion like East Tech, remained in front of No. 2 Marion Pleasant 192-178 in Class A.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters made no changes in the casts of the top tens, although there was some minor reshuffling.

In Class AAA, Springfield South, ninth last week, swapped places with No. 8 Boardman.

In Class AA, Willard moved past defending state tournament king Columbus Ready into the No. 2 spot, Rossford slipped around Steubenville Catholic into No. 4 and Albany Alexander moved from ninth to eighth ahead of Gallipolis.

The biggest advance in Class A was Greenwich South Central's jump from tenth to eighth, changing spots with Fostoria St. Wendelin, an upset victim of upper Scioto Valley last week.

Zanesville Rosecrans moved up one notch to sixth in Class A ahead of McDonald.

Barberton again was third in Class AAA, Newark fourth, Hamilton Taft fifth, Mansfield Senior sixth, Columbus South eventh and Middletown tenth.

Poland was sixth again in Class AA, Huron seventh and Tipp City No. 10.

Fort Recovery, Wapakoneta St. Joseph and Sebring kept the No. 3, 4 and 5 spots in Class A with Strasburg again ninth in the small school class.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school basketball teams this week for The Associated Press (10 points for first to 1 point for tenth):

Rendezvous Room cops city team pin crown

The Rendezvous Room captured the championship in the team events portion of the annual Washington C. H. Women's Bowling Association tournament held Sunday afternoon at Bowland Lanes.

The new champions topped the 36-team field with a fine 3019 total score, which was 117 pins better than their nearest challengers.

Jeddy Graves, the Washington C. H. all-events champion a year ago, sparked the win with a spiffy 559 total and Phyllis Brackney fired a 540. Mary Palmer's 540 score was next in line, followed by Jean Mattison's 476 and a 471-pin performance from Jean Palmer.

THE WINNERS compiled a 2572 scratch figure and had a 447-pin handicap for the 3019 total.

Antoinette Beauty Salon was 117 pins off the pace of the Rendezvous Room and finished in second place with a 2902 total. The First National Bank landed a third place finish with a 2880 sum and DeWees Electric was a close fourth with 2877.

Sulky Restaurant No. 2 was fifth with a 2842 total, followed in order by Shupert's Implement with 2829 and Stew's Automotive with 2815.

Verna Williams, secretary of the Washington C. H. Women's Bowling Association, said that the doubles and singles portions of the city bowling tournament will be held Sunday at Bowland Lanes. Action with three shifts bowling will begin at 11 a.m.

Lamar buckets 50 points as SWL buries Houston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here comes Dwight Lamar. Oops—there goes Dwight Lamar.

The Southwestern Louisiana star had Houston Baptist coming any going Monday night with a flashy, 50-point performance.

"It would be hard to ask for a better performance than Lamar gave tonight," said Southwestern Louisiana Coach Beryl Shipley after his 13th-ranked Ragin' Cajuns buried Houston Baptist 123-91 in college basketball.

The two-time national scoring champion made 23 of 38 attempts from the field, many of them from beyond 20 feet. In addition, the flamboyant guard contributed seven assists to Southwestern Louisiana's highpowered offense.

"I enjoy our offense because it's wide open and allows for more scoring," said Lamar, who won the nation's scoring title when the Ragin' Cajuns were in the college division two years ago and then repeated when they moved up to major college status last season.

In the other games involving Top Twenty teams, Kentucky upset No.6 Alabama 95-93; No.9 Minnesota crushed Wisconsin 81-64; No.10 Marquette bombed Xavier, Ohio, 90-61 and No. 19 Oral Roberts turned back Lamar, Tex., 106-83.

Elsewhere, Iowa beat Michigan 75-68; Louisvile turned back New Mexico State 91-64; Tulsa defeated Creighton 76-68; Austin Peay trimmed Western Kentucky 92-86; Tennessee tripped Louisiana State 73-71 and Oklahoma nipped Louisianna Tech 65-63.

The Michigan-Iowa game was a slam-bang affair that was marred by technical fouls and near-chaos at the end. The game ended with one second left as Iowa center Kevin Kunnert drove for a layup and got a violent foul from Michigan's John Lockard.

Lockhard's brazen belt swelled Kunnert's cheek and brought both benches swarming to the floor.

Reds' Bobby Tolan to speak tonight

Bobby Tolan, the Cincinnati Reds' fleet-footed centerfielder who made one of baseball's greatest comebacks in 1972, will be the featured speaker at the Grace United Methodist Church Father-Son banquet tonight.

The banquet, scheduled at 6:30 p.m., will be held in Fellowship Hall.

The 27-year-old Tolan overcame two torn Achilles tendon operations to hit .283 and steal 42 bases for the National League pennant winners this season.

Upset epidemic continues to haunt SCOL cage teams

An upset epidemic continues to lurk over the crowded South Central Ohio League basketball race.

Two more surprises were dished out in last Friday night's action and those startling developments almost proved fatal for the SCOL's co-leaders.

In the most recent shockers, Wilmington handed the title-hungry Washington C. H. Blue Lions a stunning 73-67 shiner, but at the same time Hillsboro was dealing co-leading Circleville a 63-59 setback. Miami Trace whacked Greenfield McClain 90-58 in the other SCOL game.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S results tightened the SCOL standings a bit more, leaving Washington C. H. and Circleville tied for league supremacy with identical 5-2 records and Miami Trace and Wilmington waiting in the wings only one game off the pace.

Hillsboro's indians continue to be the primary culprits in the upset-studded SCOL season. Head coach Robert Ream's rascally Indians shocked Wilmington 64-54, but pulled off a bigger surprise by topping Circleville in a contest in which the Tigers never experienced the upper hand.

The six head coaches will be warning their cagers about the upset bug in preparing for this week's crucial outings.

A bulky seven-game docket looms for the SCOL quintets, but the teams will be looking past Saturday night's non-league contests to concentrate on the three SCOL wars Friday.

The Miami Trace - Circleville fracas figures to be the SCOL's feature attraction this week with the rebounding Panthers risking a three-game winning spree, but more importantly, the Tigers putting their share of the SCOL leadership in jeopardy.

MIAMI TRACE will be hoping to improve its 4-3 SCOL tab in the 8 p.m. contest which will be played at Circleville's old Mill St. gym.

In other action, the Washington C. H. Blue Lions will entertain the upset-minded Hillsboro Indians. The Lions, shooting for their first SCOL flag in almost two decades, will be hoping to stay atop the SCOL pack in the struggle with the Indians who will carry a two-game win streak into the game.

The SCOL schedule also sends Greenfield to Wilmington. Head coach Sam Snyder's Tigers are still searching for their initial win inside the SCOL.

Saturday night's card has Miami Trace at Columbus Bishop Hartley, Circleville at Hamilton Township, Chillicothe at Greenfield and Wilmington at Hamilton Taft

WCH eighth graders nipped

Lion frosh register fifth straight win

Washington C.H.'s freshman basketball team, behind a combined 50-point scoring output from Chuck Byrd and Doug Phillips, whacked Madison Plains 70-41 Monday night at Mount Sterling.

It was the fifth consecutive win of the season for Coach Don Gibbs' Blue Lion cagers and pumped their glittering all-games record to a 9-1 level.

In other action Monday night, the Washington C.H. eighth grade team dropped a hard-fought 40-39 decision at Wilmington.

BYRD SPARKED Washington C.H.'s scoring punch with 27 points on the basis of 13 field goals and a free throw while Phillips connected for five field goals and 13 of 14 free throws for 23 points.

The Lion frosh, in registering their ninth win in 10 starts, zipped to a 35-19 halftime cushion and erupted for 27 points in the third quarter to hold a 62-27 bulge heading into the fourth quarter.

After trailing by as much as nine points in the early going of the fourth period. Coach Ken Hays' Lion eight graders bounced back within reach, but dropped their fourth game in a row.

Ted Mercer's 15-point performance was tops for the Blue Lion eighth graders, now 2-6 on the season.

Clem's Joy winner of Latonia feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Bold Colonel and R.J.'s Star, carrying top weights of 120 pounds will be challenged by Cuban Rum, 114, for the $5,000 purse in tonight's featured eighth race over six furlongs at Latonia.

Clem's Joy won the featured Monday night and paid $4.20, $3.40 and $2.60. Davinia placed, $4.20 and $3.60 and the show horse was Run Dandy, $6.

Bengals pre-season schedule heavy

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals plan stiff preseason play next fall with Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins, the Green Bay Packers, Cleveland Browns and the Atlanta Falcons.

The Bengals announced Monday they will play the Dolphins in Miami on Saturday, Aug. 4.

They will meet Cleveland in the second annual pre-season rivalry at Ohio Stadium in Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 19. They will host Green Bay here Sept. 8.

Bengals may get leavings due to poor drafting spot

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals face the National Football League college draft today like a KP at the officers mess—hoping to make the best of what's left over.

The Bengals, with an 8-6 record, will alternate with Kansas City and Baltimore, picking from 15th, 16th and 17th positions. The teams with poorer records pick ahead of them...that is, unless the Bengals make a trade for a lower drafting position. Trades are permitted during the draft.

Coach and General Manager Paul Brown figures "by the time it gets down to our turn, the list could be pretty lean." The list, according to Brown, has "10 or 12 or 14 blue chippers."

But, he speculated, "then again, we could get lucky."

Cincinnati went for defensive players in 1972 and came out with plums like defensive end Sherman White and safety Tommy Casanova.

But Brown has made it known he is looking for running backs, receivers and maybe some help in the offensive line.

The 1972 Bengals defensive unit developed into one of pro football's toughest, but the offense was sluggish.

Brown conceded that his staff had made a number of contacts with other teams considering the possibility of trades for draft choices.

"We've been playing around with that kind of thinking for a week," he said, "and we've made a lot of telephone calls."

So far, nothing has developed, Brown said, "but you never know when someone might decide to nibble."

He said a lot of clubs like "to sleep on something like that" before coming to a decision.

The Bengals will, like other teams, operate from their office here by telephone to all other clubs during the draft. The draft is coordinated in New York at the NFL office.

King Island golf tourney to draw top contestants

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)— Jack Nicklaus says he wants "to bring golf back to my native Ohio" as one of the prime reasons for staging the first $125,000 Ohio Kings Island Open golf tourney here Oct. 4-7.

Nicklaus said "we'll make some changes" on the Jack Nicklaus Golf Center, adjacent to the new Kings Island Amusement park, for the professional tournament.

"This course was designed for public play," Nicklaus told a news conference Monday, "but I don't think the alterations will be a problem." He said the course will be returned to normal conditions for the public. He did not say what alterations would be made for the pros except that the tees will be moved back.

Nicklaus flew to the news conference fresh from winning the Bing Crosby Open at Pebble Beach. He was first to sign up for the tournament here and predicted many other top golfers, including Lee Trevino, will enter.

"We'll have the competition, and that means having some top players," said Nicklaus. "I've always had a great desire to have a pro golf tourney in Ohio."

Nicklaus, a native of Columbus, Ohio, said the tourney could be as successful here, about 25 miles north of Cincinnati, as anywhere.

"You don't have to have a tournament at Pebble Beach to be successful," he said.

Charles S. Mechem Jr., board chairman of Taft Broadcasting Inc., tourney sponsor, said the first prize would be $25,000.

Nicklaus planned to return to his home in Florida today after attending an awards dinner Monday night at Buffalo, N.Y.

Nicklaus said he was sympathetic with Orville Moody, who blew an 18-inch putt on the final hole at the Crosby and allowed Nicklaus and Raymond Floyd to tie him and force a sudden death playoff. Nicklaus won.

"Sure, I feel sorry for him, but it happens to all of us on the tour."

BOB OSBORNE

Seniors of week

By ROBIN BRIGGS

Our first featured senior this week is Jeanne Gad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gad, 607 Lamar Court.

In school Jeanne is taking American Government, English Composition, notehand, speech and English 12. Her school activities include Senior Y-Teens, AFS, senior class treasurer, secretary of National Honor Society and working in the counselor's office.

Her hobbies include cooking, horseback riding, working, making ceramics and raising her five turtles. She is a member of St. Colman's Catholic Church.

Jeanne's comment on being a senior was, "I really love being a senior. The school is the best and most of the classes are great. But I can't wait until college and getting started on my career."

OUR SECOND featured senior this week is Bob Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne, 819 Lakeview Drive. Bob has two sisters, Debbie and Sharon, and two brothers, Ken and Steve.

He is very active in school. He is a member of Hi-Y, the Lettermen's Club and the track team. In his spare time Bob enjoys swimming, horseback riding, football and tennis.

After graduation Bob plans to attend college. When asked if he would be glad to get out of school Bob said, "I'll be glad, but I'll miss the activities and the fun."

DE student of week

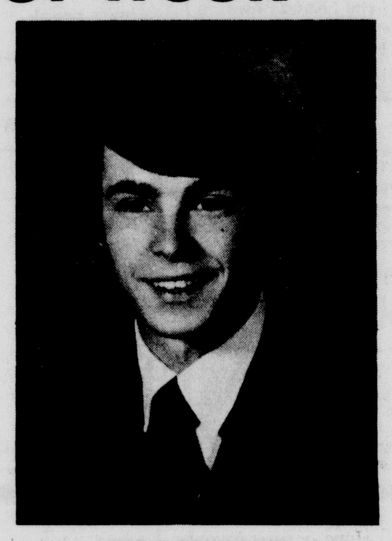

By JULIE SHOEMAKER

This week the Blue Lines newspaper staff selected Doug Rudduck as the Distributive Education student of the week.

Doug is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rudduck, 932 S. Main St.

Along with his courses of American Government, Communications, DE II and physical education, Doug is involved in varsity basketball, Hi-Y, DECA and AFS. In his spare time he enjoys building model cars, hiking, sports of all kinds and driving.

He is employed at Kaufman's Bargain Store, under the DE program.

Opinion poll

How do you feel about the basketball team being No. 1?

Mr. Cluff: "It's great!!"

Ima Darling: "Gravy, can ya dip it! I think they deserve it because they have worked so hard.

Jill Willis: "Far out!!"

Cindy Fields: "Out of State!"

Jeff Wallace: "It's a feeling that I've never felt before."

Lyn Mason: "It's great!"

Jody Pitzer: "I don't believe it."

Sue King: "After the Trace game, we deserve it."

Mike Kimmett: "I think it's great. It's been a long time."

Teresa Kellenberger: "It's super."

Albert Donahue: "We are the best team because we don't play as individuals but as a team."

Victor Aleshire: "It's about time. We could use a gold basketball."

Mike Domenico: "I feel due to recent surge of popularity, stems from the acute rationalization of the body of our institutionalization. Actually, it freaks my mind!"

Jacci Sagar: "What else could we be?"

Robin Briggs: "I think it's great. The guys have worked and really deserve it."

Vote no ordination of Episcopal women

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Delegates to a convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles, the church's largest, have voted against ordination of women to the priesthood.

Meeting here during the weekend, the 1,000 clergy and lay delegates passed by voice vote a resolution endorsing the "ancient and traditional" practice of ordaining only men to the priesthood.

Welcome to WSHS

By KATHY BINZEL

You may have seen a new face around the halls of Washington Senior High School.

Her name is Melanie Anne Marti and she lives at 512 Columbus Ave., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Marti. She's 17 and a member of the senior class, enrolled in American Government, Typing II, Physical Education, Chemistry, English Literature, choir and office practice.

Back in Breckenridge, Mich., she was in the Drama Club, and ran cross country for the track team. She has joined Y-Teens here. Her hobbies include horseback riding, swimming, bowling, ice skating, and dating around.

Her comment on WSHS was, "People are friendlier here than in Michigan. I really like being here at WSHS."

The Blue Lines staff would like to wish Mel lots of luck and happiness here at WSHS.

Featured cheerleader feels school spirit on increase

Jacci Sagar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sagar Jr., Rt. 6, Washington C. H., is the featured cheerleader of the week.

Besides being a cheerleader for the past four years, Jacci is also active in Y-Teens. She is enrolled in a college preparatory course and is taking government, speech, home economics for non-majors, English composition, physical education and English 12.

In her spare time, Jacci enjoys reading, watching television and supporting the No. 1 basketball team in the SCOL.

When asked about how she feels about cheerleading and the spirit at WSHS Jacci replied, "Being a cheerleader has been fun and an experience I'll never forget. Besides getting in the games free, I have one of the best seats in the gym. The spirit at school has risen continuously and especially since the Circleville game and when we beat that team out in the country."

Egyptians in arrears on wheat payments

CANBERRA (AP) — Egypt is $24 million in arrears in wheat payments to the Australian Wheat Board, Treasurer Frank Crean reported.

Crean Sunday said the total amount owed by Egypt is about $156 million, due at varying dates over the next three years under the credit system. Since 1970, Egypt has received $240 million worth of Australian wheat and has paid only $84 million, he added.

Coal dealers feeling pinch of modern life

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP) — Coal dealers in Newfoundland are going out of business.

And the smoke signals are beginning to disappear. In the old days, people in the outports peeped out their windows each morning to see smoke from their neighbors' chimneys, signifying it was life as usual.

Like the old kerosene lamp in the window at dusk, the morning smoke from burning coal was a signal that all was well in the home of a widow or other lone dweller.

But the kerosene lamp and the cast-iron wood and coal stove now are in disfavor among most Newfoundland homeowners who are opting for electricity, oil and gas.

NEWFOUNDLAND was once a big customer for coal mined in Cape Breton and thousands of tons were shipped to the province each fall from North Sydney, N.S.

Harvey and Co. of St. John's, which recently discontinued the business after importing coal for 110 years, bought up to 70,000 tons annually. By 1971 their imports had dropped to 2,000 tons.

Another major importer, Rorke Salt and Coal Co. of Caronear, quit importing coal in 1972 after being in business since 1838. Increasing use of electricity, oil and gas for heating and cooking led to the move.

In the days of the old sailing schooner when seamen were willing to work for low wages, coal sold on the Burin Peninsula for as little as $6 a ton. Today it retails in St. John's for $55 a ton loose and $65 a ton bagged and the buyer may pay the trucking costs.

DESPITE the high prices, dealer profits are not exorbitant. Coal loaded on board ship at Sydney costs about $22 a ton. Freight to Newfoundland is about $10 a ton and then there are handling and distribution costs.

One importing company, Avalon Coal and Salt Ltd, of Bay Roberts, has decided to keep on buying and distributing coal and will also supply smaller dealers in St. John's who find it uneconomical to import themselves.

Jacket spots thief

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The person who took John B. Bayles' jacket from a city restaurant won't be wearing it much in public.

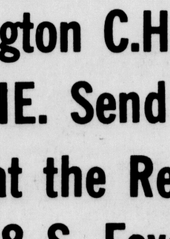

Bayles is a motorcycle policeman and the black leather jacket bears his badge 626.

The jacket was taken from a coat rack while Bayles was on a supper break.

Ski slope prospector hunts coins

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — Marshall Hatfield just can't wait to get back on the ski slopes.

But while ski buffs bide their time waiting for the first heavy snow of the season, Hatfield waits until the spring thaw on the mountain slopes.

Hatfield isn't a skier. He is a coin "collector."

Hatfield, a native of Wagner, S. D., moved here in 1952 and is a custodian at Jackson Hole Junior High.

He recently purchased an electronic instrument that detects metal just below the ground's surface.

The instrument emits a constant low-pitched whine that stops whenever it crosses a bit of metal.

Hatfield, who is married and has five children, then digs into the ground and comes up with a penny, nickel, dime, quarter, or more often — a bottle cap.

Hatfield says he "has pocketed quite a bit of change" while using his device in a local park. But he says the hunting was much better last summer on the ski slopes.

"Obviously, a great many skiers didn't have their money in a snug place when they hit the snow," he said.

Hatfield said his most interesting find was a table knife in the grass in the middle of a ski slope. "What anyone was doing with a table knife on the ski slope I couldn't understand," he said.

What does Hatfield plan to do with the "fortune" he has amassed?

Right now he's saving the money to pay for his coin-finder, which cost $140.

His name is Dandy and he's only 18 months old — and a gold medal winner in a Moscow dog show. He is the first St. Bernard to immigrate from the Soviet Union.

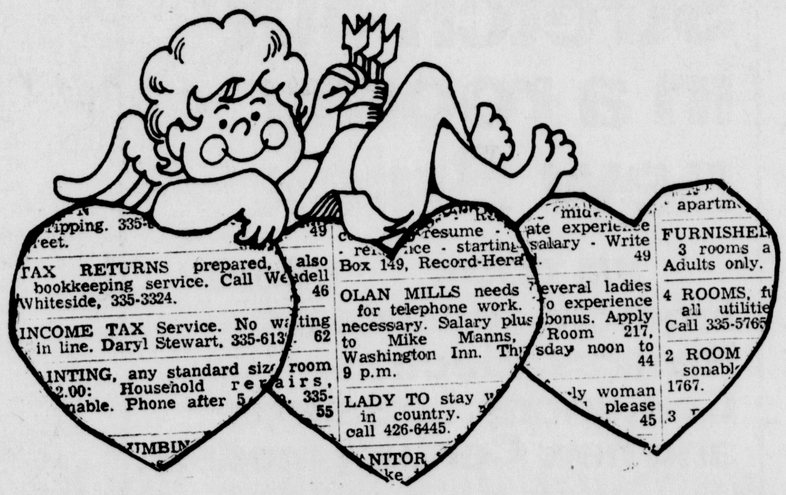

Bulrushes preserved

LONDON (AP) — Two small clusters of lesser reedmace, a rare type of bulrush, are bing saved from bulldozers clearing the site for a new reservoir at Empingham in Rutland, England's smallest county.

They are being replanted in the bed of a nearby stream.

Heartburn and Indigestion

I constantly read that attacks of heartburn in men past 50 may actually indicate some form of heart disease. I am 56.

When I get an attack in the middle of the night both my wife and I become terrified.

Is there really a relationship between heartburn and heart attacks?

Mr. P. O. N., Calif

Dear Mr. N.:

I gather from your letter that there is a great deal of anxiety — and confusion — about the problem you describe.

I have never been aware that any writers suggest such a close relationship between heartburn and heart disease.

Perhaps you are confusing the very sane suggestion that repeated attacks of indigestion may be overlooked when in reality some other condition is present.

Indigestion actually is a symptom complex which includes heartburn among others. Other symptoms of indigestion would be a sense of fullness, a desire to belch, a feeling of abdominal distension, and even abdominal pain. One or more of these symtpoms may indicate some disorder of the stomach and the intestinal tract totally unrelated to the heart.

It is true that some severe attacks of indigestion have later been found to be due to an early heart disorder. It is for this reason that all people who suffer from the distress of indigestion, especially people past the age of 40, should indulge themselves with a complete, general physical examination.

In most instances, the heart is not the offender. But when repeated attacks of indigestion occur the heart can be ruled out as the cause by heart function tests, blood studies, and by electrocardiograms.

To allay your anxiety this must be done. After that, some simple rules of sensible eating can reduce the frequency and severity of indigestion:

—People, when under severe emotional strain and tension, tend to gulp their food, thus swallowing large amounts of air.

—Overeating, especially foods with a high fat content, should be avoided before going to bed.

—Many people are bothered by gas-forming vegetables such as cabbage, radishes, onions and cucumbers.

—Immoderate smoking and excess alcohol are not recommended for men or women prone to indigestion.

Heartburn, symptom itself, is often confused with indigestion. This burning sensation has been considered the result of stomach acids finding their way into the esophagus.

It is interesting that heartburn, known as "pyrosis," can be caused by other conditions besides "excess acidity." It is for this reason that frequent attacks of heartburn, whether alone or in combination with other symptoms, deserves intensive study of the esophagus, the stomach and the entire intestinal tract.

Concern and anxiety about a condition has never been known to eliminate it. The fact so many people feel better in the morning after a nighttime seizure of indigestion or heartburn keeps them from consulting their physician.

This is poor judgment

Opening lead - king of diamonds.

The finesse is undoubtedly a marvelous instrument of play, but there is also no doubt that it is used to excess. After all, whether or not a finesse succeeds is largely a matter of luck, and it is surely unwise to rely on luck when there are other means of achieving one's goal that are less precarious.

Here is a case in point. Let's assume you're in four hearts and West leads the king of diamonds. The possible losers are two spades, a diamond and a club, but you note that one of these might be saved by finessing the queen of spades.

However, the finesse has only a 50 per cent chance of success, so you naturally start looking for other ways and means that will put you on more solid ground. Actually, there is a way of playing the hand that elevates your chances to 100 per cent.

You win the king of diamonds with the ace, draw two rounds of trumps and cash the A-K of clubs. You then exit with a club, not caring a whoop or a holler where the king of spades is located.

Let's say East wins the club with the jack and returns the ten of spades, which is the best he can do. Rejecting the finesse, you rise with the ace and return the jack of diamonds, forcing West to win with the queen.

West becomes a deceased pigeon at this point, for he must either yield a ruff and discard by playing a diamond or a club, or lead a spade and make your queen a trick.

The spade finesse never enters the picture once you make up your mind to leave nothing to chance.

Viet War poem praises 'Victory"

MOSCOW (AP) — Yevgeny Yevtushenko, the Russian poet, has written a poem on the end of the Vietnam war in which he praises the antiwar activities of Jane Fonda and Dr. Benjamin Spock.

The poem, entitled "With Victory," was published Sunday by Pravda. It also mentions Soviet weavers who made the material that clothed "Victory in Vietnam," the Soviet workers who marched in support of Vietnam and Americans who resisted the military draft.

In Focus by Charlie Pensyl

Well, the time has about come for classes to begin at C K F N. The winter sessions start early in February. The tyro will not be lost at these sessions, nor will the expert find them dull, since we try to keep things basic yet present the new stuff as it is announced. Our first sessions will deal with making a good presentation slide show from your vacation. This series will include some of the most beautiful slide shows you have ever seen. Interested? Come in for more information. Soon. You know, owning a camera does you no good whatsoever if you don't have the ability to use it properly.

Mid-winter is projector season and we are getting much comment about the 140 slide tray giving trouble on the Carousel projector. The 140 tray is a special purpose tray, not for general use, regardless of what the characters at Rochester say. The 80 slide tray works well and seems much better suited for general use. I've found the 140 tray to be a big help if I have a slide show to present which is over 81 slides but less than 140. Come in and let us help you with your tray problems.

Again keep in mind the photographic classes starting in February. Photography is fun only when you know how to handle the camera.

AN UPSETTING MORNING — A truck driver escaped with only minor injuries when his rig overturned on U. S. 35 at the Ohio 753 interchange at 5:40 a.m. Tuesday. The truck flipped over on its side as it made a left turn off Ohio 753 onto U.S. 35, sheriff's deputies reported.

Trucker escapes as rig overturns

A Ray, Ohio, truck driver escaped with only minor injuries when his tractor-trailer rig upset on U.S. 35 at Ohio 753 interchange early Tuesday. The mishap was one of eight investigated during the past 24 hours by police and sheriff's departments.

Three drivers were cited in the accidents which caused moderate property loss.

Sheriff's deputies said Harry E. Post Jr., 22, was treated at Memorial Hospital for a minor leg injury following the 5:40 a.m. crash. A 16-year-old passenger in the truck escaped injury.

Officers said Post was eastbound on Ohio 753 and turning left onto U.S. 35 when the rig overturned on its right side. Post had apparently attempted to take the turn too fast, sheriff's deputies said.

The right side of the 1973 cab sustained extensive damage. The trailer was only slightly damaged. The rig was owned by Adams' Bakery, Portsmouth.

TOPS chapter aids research

Members of OH TOPS Chapter 669 voted to contribute to the TOPS Research Program, head quartered in Milwaukee, Wis., during a meeting Monday in Eastside School.

Mrs. Beryl Smith conducted the session and Mrs. Ronald Burns was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Homer Chaney called the roll, and Mrs. Sue Mossbarger was named best loser of the week.

Mrs. Chaney presented a charm to Mrs. Delbert Looker for having missed only two meetings during the year. Mrs. Emmett Campbell and Mrs. Smith read appropriate articles from the TOPS magazine.

Organ concert at Chillicothe

Members of a committee from Trinity United Methodist Church, Chillicothe, were in Washington C. H. Monday extending a general invitation, and especially to Organ Club members, to attend an organ concert at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 11, in the Chillicothe church by Dr. Donald P. Hustad, professor of organ music at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

The purpose of the concert is in line with a continuing practice of presenting outstanding artists. It also is designed to give the public an opportunity to hear the church's new Schantz pipe organ, a gift of the late Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Yaple. It was dedicated in October, 1971.

Dr. Hustad received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Northwestern University. His experience includes recordings, radio programs, director of sacred music for Moody Bible Institute, organist with the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association and conductor of the Moody Chorale on two European tours. He returned this month from a sabattical leave for further study in France.

A coffee hour will follow the concert.

Motorcycle license tests are slated

Tests for those wishing to obtain motorcycle operator licenses will be held at the Lafayette Inn parking lot, according to Lt. R. E. Kline, of the Wilmington State Highway Patrol post.

Lt. Kline said the tests will be held Feb. 13 and the second Tuesday of each month thereafter.

Appointments for the test can be made by contacting the driver examiner in person at the American Legion Post in Washington C. H. from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Other mishaps investigated were:

POLICE

MONDAY, 9:10 a.m. — David A. Merendo, 21, Fairborn, was cited for failure to maintain assured clear distance after his car collided with the rear of a truck driven by Raphael J. Rainey, 47, Cincinnati, stopped at the Dayton-Oakland Avenue intersection; damage moderate.

MONDAY, 11:45 a.m. — A car driven by Karl E. Kellenberger Jr., 18, of 424 Broadway and a parked auto owned by Thomas A. Terrell, 229½ Delaware St., were involved in a minor collision on Yeoman Street at Ogle Street; damage minor.

MONDAY, 3:15 p.m. — Theodore W. Ockerman, 76, of Leesburg, was cited for failure to yield the right of way after he pulled from an alley onto E. Court Street and hit a westbound car driven by Roy H. East, 60, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville; damage moderate.

MONDAY, 3:33 p.m. — Cars driven by Virginia L. Moats, 48, of 211 E. Temple St., and Penny L. Beekman, 26, Rt. 3, were involved in a slight mishap on Market Street, just east of Hinde Street; damage minor.

MONDAY, 4 p.m. — Cars driven by John W. Craig, 48, Rt. 6, and Robert E. Barnett, 55, of 216 E. Paint St., collided on Court Street, just west of Washington Avenue; damage minor.

TUESDAY, 2:23 a.m. — Glenn D. Lemay, 29, Columbus, was cited for backing without safety after hitting a parked car owned by Charles D. Simpson, of 214 W. Elm St., while backing from a parking space in front of the Buckeye Bar, E. Court St.; damage moderate.

SHERIFF

MONDAY, 9 p.m. — A minor collision on the Deskins Apartment lot, U.S. 22-E, involving a car driven by Roxanne Coil, 19, Rt. 1, New Holland, and a parked auto owned by J. Howard Pinkerton, New Holland; damage minor.

Non-traffic cases heard

One man was fined and another forfeited bond on intoxication complaints heard by Acting Judge John Bryan in Municipal Court Monday afternoon.

Homer P. Anders, 40, of 726 S. North St., was fined $200 and costs after entering a guilty plea to disturbing the peace by intoxication as charged by his wife, Barbara Anders.

Anders was found not guilty of an assault charge also filed by his wife. The charges stem from a disturbance in the Anders home Wednesday, police said. Judge Bryan suspended $150 of Anders' find pending good behavior for one year.

John R. Walters, 19, of 909 E. Temple St., forfeited $50 bond when he failed to appear on an intoxication charge filed by city police Thursday. Officers found Walters sitting in his car parked in an alley off E. Court Street early Thursday morning.

DIVORCE ASKED

Donna L. Lankford, 618 Columbus Ave., has filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas Court from Robert B. Lankford, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, on grounds of neglect. The parties were married April 8, 1972, at Washington C. H. and have no children, according to the petition. The plaintiff asks a restraining order and that she be restored to her former name, Donna L. Haines.

CASES DISMISSED

Two divorce cases have been dismissed by motion of the plaintiffs in Common Pleas Court.

The cases were styled: Mary Lou Hawkins, Rt. 2, Washington C. H. vs. Russell E. Hawkins, Tower Mobile Home Park, and Howard D. Smith, Rt. 1, New Martinsburg vs. Alice C. Smith, same address.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Eleanor L. Hartley, Ford Rd., has been granted a divorce from Paul E. Hartley on grounds of extreme cruelty. The plaintiff was granted custody of a minor child and the defendant was ordered to pay $25 child support and was granted visitation rights. The plaintiff was also awarded household goods and a property settlement.

CASE SETTLED

A damage suit seeking a total of $50,000 was settled before a jury could be seated Monday in Common Pleas Court.

The case was filed by Everett and Nina M. Kelley, Rt. 1, Hillsboro, against Gamble - Skogmo, Inc., dba Buckeye Mart. The case was settled by an agreement of the parties and was dismissed by Judge Evelyn W. Coffman.

The plaintiffs were seeking a total of $50,000 in damages for injuries suffered by Mrs. Kelley Oct. 13, 1970 when she slipped and fell in a pool of antifreeze which she said had negligently been allowed to escape from a display at Buckeye Mart, Washington Square Shopping Center.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police expected an autopsy report today in the death of Dorothy May Whittaker, 49, of Columbus, whose body was found Monday in a junked auto at an east side auto parts firm.

JOE WHITE

Joe White joins Mark & Mustine

Joe E. White, U.S. 35-N, has passed the license test given by the Ohio Real Estate Commission and has joined the sales staff of Mark and Mustine Real Estate, 211 E. Market St., as an associate.

White will engage in the listing and selling of residential, commercial, rural and farm real estate. He has a particular interest in farming and has experience in farm management.

A native of Fayette County, White was graduated from Washington High School and received a degree in business administration from Ohio State University. He served as an officer in the U.S. Air Force for 4½ years in World War II, with overseas service in Australia and New Guinea.

He is married to a former Texan, Missie, and their two children, Joe and Cherie, are both graduates of Miami University. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Elmer White, having been associated with his father in the auto sales business for many years. He was later parts manager for Ralph Hickman, Inc. for eight years.

Farm Bureau drive opens

The annual membership campaign of the Fayette County Farm Bureau probably will be all wrapped up by this time next week.

The kickoff meeting of the membership committee, headed by Mrs. Arthur Schsefer, will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Farm Bureau office. At this time committee members will be given cards for renewals and new membership possibilities to be contacted.

Mrs. Schaefer said 10 days ago that 80 per cent of the 1972 members already have paid their dues for this year and the percentage probably has increased since then.

The campaign originally was scheduled to get under way Jan. 23, but because of a conflict with another Farm Bureau-related meeting, it was postponed.

Board reaffirms variance approval

The city's Zoning Board of Appeals has reaffirmed its previous action granting a variance permitting establishment of a beauty shop in what has been a garage at 411 N. North St.

A week ago the board indicated its approval of a request filed by Mrs. Dorothy Wallace, 214 S. North St., but withheld final action pending a general review of variances. Mrs. Wallace's shop is to be self-operated, only internal construction will be permitted and any sign must be limited to one square foot in area.

Fire razes New Holland area home

NEW HOLLAND — The fourth fire in two weeks' time in the New Holland area completely destroyed the residence occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George Gilpin and family, Rt. 1, three miles south of New Holland, on Egypt Pike.

The family was not at home and the fire was completely out of control when the New Holland Fire Department, summoned by a neighbor, Sheldon Grimes, at 2:30 p.m. Monday, arrived on the scene.

Fire Chief Danny Kirkpatrick said it is impossible to determine what caused the fire. Within the past two weeks, the Ora Burdge home, the White Cottage Restaurant and a tractor on the Bill Mace farm, have also burned.

Any clothing or household equipment for the Gilpin family may be left at the Washington C. H. Fire Department or at the firehouse in New Holland. Information on what is needed may be obtained from Kirkpatrick.

Sizes of clothing for the children in the Gilpin family include: a boy, 17 years, coat medium, pants 16, shirt 14, and shoes 9; a boy, 7 years, coat small, pants 6, shirt 6, shoes 12; a girl, 16 years, dress 16, shoes 6½, coat 11; and a girl, 6 years, dress 5, shoes 9, coat small.

Hartman Ditch hearing slated

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday afternoon scheduled a final hearing date for the Hartman Ditch improvement project.

The final hearing will be held at 1:30 p.m. March 5 in the commissioners' office, and Mrs. Mary Morris, county auditor, said all property owners involved will be notified of the assessment and date of hearing.

Commissioners scheduled the final hearing after listening to a report from Fayette County Engineer Charles P. Wagner concerning the improvement project.

Wagner's report showed estimated cost of the project to be $22,039.65. The report also contained an approval from both the Department of Natural Resources and State Highway Department.

The Hartman Ditch is located in the area of the CCC Highway-E and Waterloo Road intersection.

In other matters before the commissioners Monday afternoon, Reginald (Chink) Davis, county dog warden, submitted 29 reports.

Downtown drug Co. now ticket agency

The Downtown Drug Co. has been named Central Ticket Office for shows, plays and extravaganzas staged at Veterans Memorial Auditorium, the Ohio State Fairground Coliseum and at the Ohio Theatre all in Columbus.

The service is for advance tickets sales only, according to Paul Crosby. Tickets may be obtained from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

"The Valachi Papers" is the real story of the real mobs!" —FRANCES TAYLOR, L.I. Press

"A chronicle of cruelty and corruption... impresses itself on one's memory. The performances are excellent!" —JOHN KOCH, Boston Herald Traveler/Record American

"Far superior in every aspect to 'The Godfather'! Charles Bronson has the role of his career! 'The Valachi Papers' is well worth seeing!" —GEORGE McKINNON, Boston Globe

"Is 'The Valachi Papers' as good as 'The Godfather'? The answer is no. It is better." —PHILLIP WALTERS, WMAQ-TV (Chicago)

"Action-packed, full of facts and paced in taut style." —BRUCE VILANCH, Chicago Today

"An atmospheric gangland drama in which cowardice, treachery and cruelty are shown to be precisely that!" —BRUCE WILLIAMSON, Playboy

"A magnificent achievement! It informs, entertains and chills the viewer at the same time!" —LAWRENCE FALK, UPI

"One of the most accurate, no-nonsense gangster films in years. Don't miss it!" —JEFFREY LYONS, WPIX-TV
